Village engineer resigns

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Within minutes of officially welcoming new village administrator Alan Probst at the regular meeting of the board of directors of the village of Antioch, village engineer Jim Keim's letter of resignation was read.

Though Keim will continue his duties through Sept. 12, he was not present at the meeting.

In his letter he said he had intended to serve the village for a much longer time period than two years, but the consequences to his physical and mental health caused him to tender his resignation. "The job isn't what I thought it would be," he said.

Despite that, he praised the administration for its accomplishments in the past two years and said he was proud to have been part of the team that had turned around Antioch's financial woes.

Keim is the sixth department head to leave the village's employee within the past two years. Others on the list include Charlie Watkins, former chief of police; Joe Hueber, former superintendent of streets; Sherry Hoban, former village treasurer; Mike Haley, former village administrator replaced by Probst; and Glenda Sorensen, former community development director whose department was dissolved and job eliminated.

Village officials did not say whether they intended to replace Keim. The position of village engineer is one that was created when Mayor Taso Maravelas took office.

Burglary victim hit twice

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Unbeknownst to an Antioch resident, he was not only the victim of a burglary to motor vehicle but the victim of a residential theft as well.

Justin Brock, 18, of Antioch, and Charles Petersik, 22, of Lake Villa, were arrested on Aug. 14 and charged with burglary to motor vehicle. Brock faces additional charges for forgery and theft from a residence.

Det. Sgt. Craig Somerville and Det. Daryl Youngs saw Brock and Petersik cross in front of their car on Route 83 in the area of William Street. Police were looking for Petersik in reference to an unrelated case, and the detectives stopped and spoke with the two.

Brock and Petersik were found to be in possession of a personal check written out in the amount of $2,500. Somerville said, "I immediately recognized the account holder on the check to be an Antioch resident who had reported a burglary to his work van in which $1,200 worth of tools and an air compressor were stolen."

Somerville said that had another 15 minutes passed, the check would have been cashed and they would have had no leads in the case.

"The victim didn't have a clue this check had been taken from him," Somerville said. "At the time his van was burglarized, his home was entered and the check was eased out of his checkbook."

Somerville said it appeared Brock and Petersik were acquaintances of the victim's neighbor and had become familiar the victim's work schedule and used that information to their advantage.

"These two were on their way to meet a third person to cash the check," said Somerville. "Neither of these guys had valid identification and wouldn't have been able to do it on their own."

Somerville said through the

Brock

department's investigation the names of two Lake County pawnshops were found among Brock's possessions. This information led to the recovery and return of the $1,200 of stolen tools as well as the criminal charges against Brock and Petersik.

Brock and Petersik were transported to bond court and remanded to the Lake County Jail on $20,000 and $10,000 bonds, respectively, pending their Sept. 9 court date.

Burglary is a class 2 felony punishable by 4-15 years in prison. Forgery is a class 3 felony punishable by 2-5 years in prison.

Fashion show creates community awareness

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Fall into Fashion, the first annual fashion show developed by show coordinator Val Nelson to raise awareness for the programs available through Central Baptist Family Services (CBFS), will be held on Saturday, Sept. 13 from 2-6 p.m. at the Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church. The cost is $25 for adults and $10 for those under the age of 18 years old. All proceeds will help support the Wings and Parent Group programs offered through CBFS.

"I've lived in Lake County for 16 years and I didn't know what CBFS was all about," said Nelson. "If just one person comes away knowing that there are programs available to someone who may be on the edge and to prevent child abuse, then this will all be worth it."

Joyce Heneberry of CBFS said that the organization offers many programs, but two of them are particularly useful to young or single parents who may need help.

"Wings is not an acronym, but is symbolic. Giving wings, particularly to young women and young parents, to be independent," she said. "A case worker is assigned and follows up for five years. We offer parenting tips and support to those who may not have it otherwise so that they don't end up in the system."

Heneberry said the Parent Group meets weekly and is facilitated by a professional. Questions lead to discussion about crucial parenting topics such as discipline.

"We get a big bang for the buck with prevention, because it takes fewer resources to prevent problems than it does to correct them once they are there," said Heneberry.

She said that neither of these two programs receives contract money and that all funding comes private sources, this benefit fashion show being one of them.

Group USA from Gurnee Mills is supplying the fall clothing that will be previewed. Additionally, there will be information about skin care, cosmetics, hair styling, body care, portraits and fragrances.

"I found an image consultant who will do color draping to show what are the best colors for an individual and who can offer advice about what to clean out of the closet and how to update your wardrobe without spending a fortune," said Nelson. "This will just be a really fun afternoon for mothers and daughters or girlfriends."

Bike run keeps women's, children's home operational

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Perfect weather added to the good turn out of the second annual KC's Cabin motorcycle run to support the Mother Teresa Home in Antioch. Before blessing the riders and their bikes as they headed out, Deacon Scott Keenan of St. Peter Church said the nearly $14,000 raised at the first event had been enough to keep the home operational for the year.

He said the home served as a safe place for three women and their children last year, and that three were currently living in the house this year.

"The Mother Teresa Home is for women and children who are experiencing extraordinary life situations," he said. "Maybe it's domestic abuse, maybe it's something else, but we need to be able to give them a safe place."

The well-organized ride was enhanced by local police assistance in the way of escort and traffic control by officers from Antioch, Fox Lake and Winthrop Harbor.

More motorcycles were registered for this year's run than last with 177 making the official count. A majority of the bikes carried a passenger as well as a rider.

DiMarco's restaurant donated the mostaccioli dinner served at St. Peter's when the 90-mile ride was completed.

Another will be held next year on either the first or second Sunday following Labor Day. Donations are always welcome.

For more information, call the Social Justice Office at 847-395-0309.

Students benefit from pork chop dinner

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

It's no tumbleweed that the annual pork chop barbecue and auction to be held by the Antioch Rotary Club on Oct. 4 will kick up some dust with the theme of "Wild Western Rotary Round-Up." It also doesn't take a Texas Ranger to know that supporting an event that gives back to the community is worthwhile.

This year's hoedown will take place at Father Hanley hall in St. Peter School with dinner served from 5-7 p.m. and the auction beginning at 7 p.m. and running until all the goodies are spoken for.

"We have a lot of great trips to auction off this year," said Rotarian Bob Schneider. "We have big trips to both New Zealand and Australia hosted by Rotary members there. Everyone who has taken one of these trips loves it because you have your own personal tour guide."

Schneider explained that the proceeds of this fundraiser typically go to the Antioch Rotary Scholarship Fund. Over $30,000 annually is doled out to students residing in Community High School District 117.

"Each year 18-30 kids in the community get scholarships to help with their college education," he said. "How much and how many scholarships we give varies based on need."

In addition to trips with far-away destinations, there are plenty of items to bid on that will keep the winner closer to home.

"We have tickets for two to see 'The Producers,' sky box tickets for four to see the Packers play the Eagles for a Monday night game, an evening in Greentown with Sen. (Adeline) Geokaris (R-Zion), a Valentine weekend at the Geneva Inn," said Schneider. "And, that's only part of the prizes we have for this year."

Schneider saved details of the best prize for last. He said, "We have an eight day, seven night all-inclusive trip to Barbados. All you have to spend extra money on is souvenirs. The trip is courtesy of the Barbados Tourist Board, Air Jamaica, Almond Resorts and Travel by Design."

A silent auction will be held for some of the smaller items such as arts and crafts and one pizza a month for one year.

Rep. JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch) has donated a three-night stay for two and the Tanque Verde dude ranch in Tucson, Ariz. The ranch is at the base of three mountain ranges and is adjacent to acres upon acres of federal preserve.

Tickets are $20 per person and include dinner and a raffle ticket with a winning prize of a $500 travel certificate through Travel by Design out of the proceeds of the auction. Dinner includes two pork chops with the fixings, ice cream and tea or lemonade.

Tickets are for sale at the State Bank of The Lakes, First National Bank-Employee Owned, Osmond Insurance, as well as from any Rotarian or at the door.

To donate an item, or for more information, call Schneider at 847-395-4444.

Peddler's Alley craft show

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The ALL (Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa) Parents Network of Antioch Community High School (ACHS) will conduct its 11th annual Peddler's Alley craft show on Oct. 11 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the high school.

"We anticipate 50 quality crafters," said Robin Kessell, past chair.

In the past, unique items such as painted feathers and soft sculpture added to the variety along with many wooden crafts. Those who sell products like Tupperware are allowed exhibitor space, but Kessell the organizers place crafters first to ensure there are enough.

"The ALL Parent Network has two objectives," said Kessell. "The first is to supply a parent directory and the second is to sponsor a safe drug-free post-prom for ACHS prom goers." The proceeds from this event will go towards the post-prom event.

As always there will be a bake sale with tasty treats supplied by members of the ALL Parents Network.

Other continuing traditions include a raffle. Each crafter donates one item each for the raffle prizes.

Tickets are pulled by showgoers as they enter. Those who pull a ticket with a number get the corresponding prize.

There is no admission charge for this event. The ALL Parent Network table will be located near the front door and crafters will show their wares in the commons and in the gym foyer.

"The light is better there than in the gym itself," said Kessell.

South Lakestreet sidewalk issue not simple

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Putting a small stretch of sidewalk along on the south side of Lake Street continuing the length that runs along the Jewel property to Tiffany doesn't seem like it should be a daunting task, but lack of a village easement is making it just that.

Village attorney Bob Long said, "As near as anyone can ascertain we don't have a dedicated street. The easement is by prescript." Long said because of that the village only owns from curb to curb and at a depth of about 15 inches for the purpose of the road alone.

"We don't have 'quick take' powers like the Department of Transportation," he said. "Just putting a sidewalk in would violate the property owner's Fifth Amendment rights."

Trustee Bob Caulfield asked the consequences of making Lake Street a one-way road and using a portion of the street for pedestrian travel.

"I've wondered about that myself," said Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building.

After discussion, it was determined that changing Lake Street to one-way would adversely affect traffic flow, no matter the direction of the Lake Street flow and would add to the congestion of the Tiffany/Route 173 intersection.

"That's already one of the worst intersections in the village," said Long.

Mayor Taso Maravelas recommended that Long send a registered letter to the property owner, currently in Florida, in an effort to open negotiations. Long will take this action, before the village considers further options.

Remember safety with school buses, crossings

Antioch's fire department, fire district and police department want to ensure that motorists remember safety concerns with regard to children and school buses now that school is back in session.

Chief Dennis Volling of the Antioch Fire Department said, "Parents and students can start the school year off right by putting driving safety at the top of the back-to-school list to ensure a safe school year for everyone."

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, one-fourth of all children under the age of 14 years old who die in motor vehicle crashes are pedestrians. Reportedly, the majority of these pedestrian fatalities occur in the afternoon when school is letting out for the day.

The Antioch Fire Department and the First Fire District offer the following safety tips: slow down in school and residential areas; look for clues such as crossing guards and buses as an indication that children may be in the area; scan between parked cars for children who could dart into traffic; avoid distractions such as cell phones and always stop for school buses that are loading and unloading.

Previously, Det. Daryl Youngs of the Antioch Police Department said that fines are hefty for passing school buses, and that more than one offense can result in the suspension or revocation of one's driver's license.

"A car must stop before meeting the bus (from either direction, when children are present and the arm is out)," he said. "This includes when you're on a private road or on school property."

The exception to this rule is when one is coming from the opposite direction on a four-lane road or highway. In that situation, Youngs cautioned, "Unless the road is divided by a concrete median, you are taking the chance of a kid running out in front of you."

While not too far off the subject, happy 40th birthday to Det. Youngs.

By the way, how were the doughnuts and aren't there laws against littering? Or does that not extend to gift-giving friends and personal front yards? If only a photographer had been available.

Concerned citizens no show at budget hearing

As with previous years past, there were no concerned citizens prepared to address the board of education for Community High School District 117, and the budget was approved.

A tentative budget for 2004 was approved late spring as necessary to begin the 2003-04 school year in the fall. Business manager Bill Ahlers told the board there were no surprises in the budget and he predicted a balanced budget for the upcoming year.

On paper, there appears to be a $1.2 million surplus.

"The county was very late getting out the tax bills this year, and that pushed everything back," said Ahlers. "Usually we receive our tax revenue in July, right in time for the end of the fiscal year (June 30). This year, we didn't receive that money until July."

Ahlers said if the district used the accrual method for keeping its books (i.e. counting revenues when they are earned as opposed to when they are received and deposited), the district's figures would show break-even budgets for the 2003 and 2004 fiscal years. Under the cash system, the district shows a $1.2 million deficit for last year and $1.2 million surplus for the coming year.

"It all equals out within the two years," said Ahlers. "The worst thing we could do would be to spend that $1.2 million twice."

Osmond encourages public insurance complaints

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Changes that will impose a tax or fee to insurance companies that will, no doubt, be passed onto consumers has Rep. JoAnn Osmond (R-Antioch) redoubling her efforts to ensure the public knows how to get questions answered and complaints registered.

"Illinois citizens should be aware of, and take advantage of the services offered by the Illinois Insurance Hotline," she said. "The cost of insurance will likely go up again by the first of the year."

She said companies will begin having to pay a fee or tax based on the total dollar amount of workman's compensation claims filed and that ultimately the expense of this will go back to the consumer.

She said, "Any time I see anything about insurance, I want the public to know where to go with their questions and complaints."

Osmond said the hotline has been there, but that there have been some procedural changes. Nonetheless, it provides complimentary educational literature on auto, home, life and health topics; offers financial strength ratings and complaint rankings about individual companies; and offers direction to resources when insurance issues arise.

"The hotline offers unbiased information that consumers can use to make educated decisions," she said. "Hotline consultants don't sell insurance or recommend companies."

To reach the Illinois Insurance Hotline, call 800-444-3338. Calls are taken between 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Road safety improvements part of state's 5-year plan

Safety improvements at the intersection of Illinois Route 83 and Engle Drive in Lake Villa are slated to continue as part of the governor's 5-year road improvement plan. However, the proposed improvements are not included in the plans for fiscal year 2004.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) had contacted the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) in early July requesting a stoplight at the dangerous intersection.

"It is certainly disappointing that the improvements will not be completed this year, but I am glad to see the new traffic signals remain a priority for the State of Illinois," she said.

"In the meantime, I urge area residents to use extra caution while driving in this area. We have already had many accidents and until the traffic signals are installed, I urge drivers to pay more attention at this intersection."

According to IDOT, phase I engineering for the project was completed in December 2002, preparing for intersection reconstruction and widening of the roadway.

The slated improvements will include left-turn lane channels on the north and east legs of the intersection. Traffic signals will interconnect with those at Monaville Road. A three-lane cross-section will stretch along Illinois Route 83 from north of Engle Drive through Monaville Road.

Currently, IDOT is working on phase II engineering and necessary land acquisition for the construction to continue.

Millburn teachers mentor each other in new program

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Teachers at Millburn School will be better prepared than ever, thanks to an improved mentoring program to be implemented this year that goes beyond the minimum required by federal and state governments.

Millburn Assistant Principal Cheryl Kucera explained that a formal mentoring program is part of the state code.

"Induction mentoring is also part of 'no child left behind,'" Kucera said, referencing the federal mandate regarding quality education.

"New teachers, under their initial certification, have four years to come up to standard," she said.

Kucera is one of only three people in the Lake County Region of Education who is approved by the state to coach mentors.

The program, more costly than in the past, expands the mentoring period from one year to two. Costs are driven by teachers putting in extra hours to meet the program requirements, including extra training for mentors.

"Proteges will observe and be observed," Kucera said. While teachers are observing their colleagues, their classes will need to be covered by substitutes. This, too, will increase costs to the school.

Teachers must be observed three times each year. The evaluations tendered by mentors are confidential. They will be seen only by the proteges and their mentors, not by other staff or administrators, and will not play a role in determining employment issues.

"We're removing the fear factor," said Millburn School District 24 Superintendent Jim Menzer. "These observations will not be part of regular teacher evaluations." He explained the mentors' evaluations are solely intended to help the teachers improve their skills.

Police warn of fraudulent fund-raising

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER

A Lake Villa resident reported to police that on Sept. 7, at 8:30 p.m., she received a call from a male who claimed to be a Lake Villa Police sergeant. The man then solicited money for DARE programs.

The woman became suspicious, and called the Lake Villa Police Department, after telling the insistent caller to send a donation packer and information in the mail.

"We don't have a DARE program in Lake Villa," said Lake Villa Police Det. Mark Martino. "Our program is called SEND."

Martino noted that there is no legitimate police organization that solicits funds, either by telephone or door-to-door.

"If you receive a call that seems suspicious, hang up and call the police," he said. He concurred with advice that credit card and bank information should never be given to an unknown or unsolicited caller.

LAST CALL

NSC the place to be for Grayslake

With a vote upcoming to decide new membership to the North Suburban Conference, I'd like to call on all the NSC superintendents to do the right thing. Let Grayslake in.

Grayslake, along with Lake Zurich, has applied for membership into the conference, starting for the 2005-06 school year.

The NSC has already given preliminary approval to Lake Zurich, which would give the conference 14 teams, all in Lake County, soon to be 15 with the upcoming forming of Lakes Community High School in Antioch.

However, the conference has balked at allowing Grayslake in, until the school settles the question of what to do with its new campus.

Logistically, the question of whether to let Grayslake in is no contest.

The school is right smack dab in the middle of other NSC schools, leaving miniscule traveling times for opposing teams, unlike Lake Zurich, which could take upwards of an hour to reach during peak traffic periods.

It has never made much sense for Grayslake to be in the Fox Valley Conference, which is dominated by teams from McHenry and Kane Counties.

How can a conference have teams from three different counties? It just doesn't make sense.

With the exception of football, where weekend travel times aren't an issue, some of these Ram teams have to travel for two hours on the road to a game, often leaving school early to be able to make the 4:30 p.m. start time at the opposing team's school.

They then play the game for two hours and then have to take another two-hour trip home, often arriving back in Grayslake at 9 p.m. And they do this three or four times a week.

Let me say it again: It just doesn't make sense.

Grayslake used to be part of the now-defunct Northwest Suburban Conference, with many of the teams that are now in the NSC. It's time to reunite Grayslake with some of their old rivals. Let them come home.

Now on to some of the professional issues plaguing the Lakeland area sports fan. Can't bank on these Bears

All I keep hearing from fans of the Chicago Bears, presented by Bank One, both before the season and after the embarrassing 49-7 loss to the 49ers to open the season, is how much they hate John Shoop.

Look, I'm no fan of any offensive coordinator that calls for a 5-yard hitch on 3rd-and-8, but last weekend's debacle was not his fault.

I don't care if the cloned offspring of Mike Martz, Bill Walsh and Jon Gruden was scripting the plays, if the offensive line can't give the quarterback at least three seconds to throw the football on a consistent basis, the Bears' offense will continue to get stuck in the mud.

The blame for the unmitigated disaster that is befalling the Bears rests solely on the shoulders of GM Jerry Angelo.

Here is a man that has let Roosevelt Colvin, Ted Washington, Walt Harris and Tony Parrish go in the last two seasons and has replaced them with empty uniforms.

About the only good thing he's done since he's been here is draft Brian Urlacher, Colvin and Warrick Holdman...oh, wait...he didn't do that either.

What has he done for the Bears, besides make them a rival for the Bengals and Cardinals for the laughing stock of the league?

Pennant fever in Chicago

As of press time, both the Cubs and White Sox are still in first place late in the season for the first time since 1906.

Both teams are clicking at the right time and have mediocre schedules the rest of the season.

And I'll tell you one thing. No team wants to face them in a short series. But something will go wrong eventually for one of the teams.

The day that both teams make it to the World Series is the same day Hell freezes over, I win the lottery and the Earth explodes.

And I leave you with that happy thought of the day.

Ball control the key in Antioch win

By ROB BACKUS
Sports Editor

After losing a tough 32-21 contest to Niles West to open the season, Antioch bounced right back to beat Larkin 21-13 to earn its first win of the season.

Larkin jumped out to an early 7-0 lead, but the Sequoits came right back to tie the game at 7-7 after a 7-yard TD run by Nate Hughes.

Antioch then took the lead in the third quarter, thanks to solid runs by Nick Nathan (16 carries, 116 yards) and a 3-yard TD run by Tom Rompella.

The scoring was capped off by another TD run by Hughes late in the fourth quarter as Antioch held on for the 21-13 win.

'We just kept chipping away and getting first downs'

Del Pechauer, on his teams ability to control the ball

"The offense did a good job in the second half," Antioch coach Del Pechauer said. "We controlled the ball; Larkin only ran nine plays in the second half."

In all, the Sequoits had 293 yards of total offense, most of which came on the ground.

"We just kept chipping away and getting first downs," Pechauer said.

Also key in Antioch's ball control was two forced turnovers, including a Hughes interception and a fumble recovery.

"It's nice to see the kids played hard both weeks," Pechauer said. "Now we're looking forward to conference play."

Despite the win, Antioch still has plenty of things to work on.

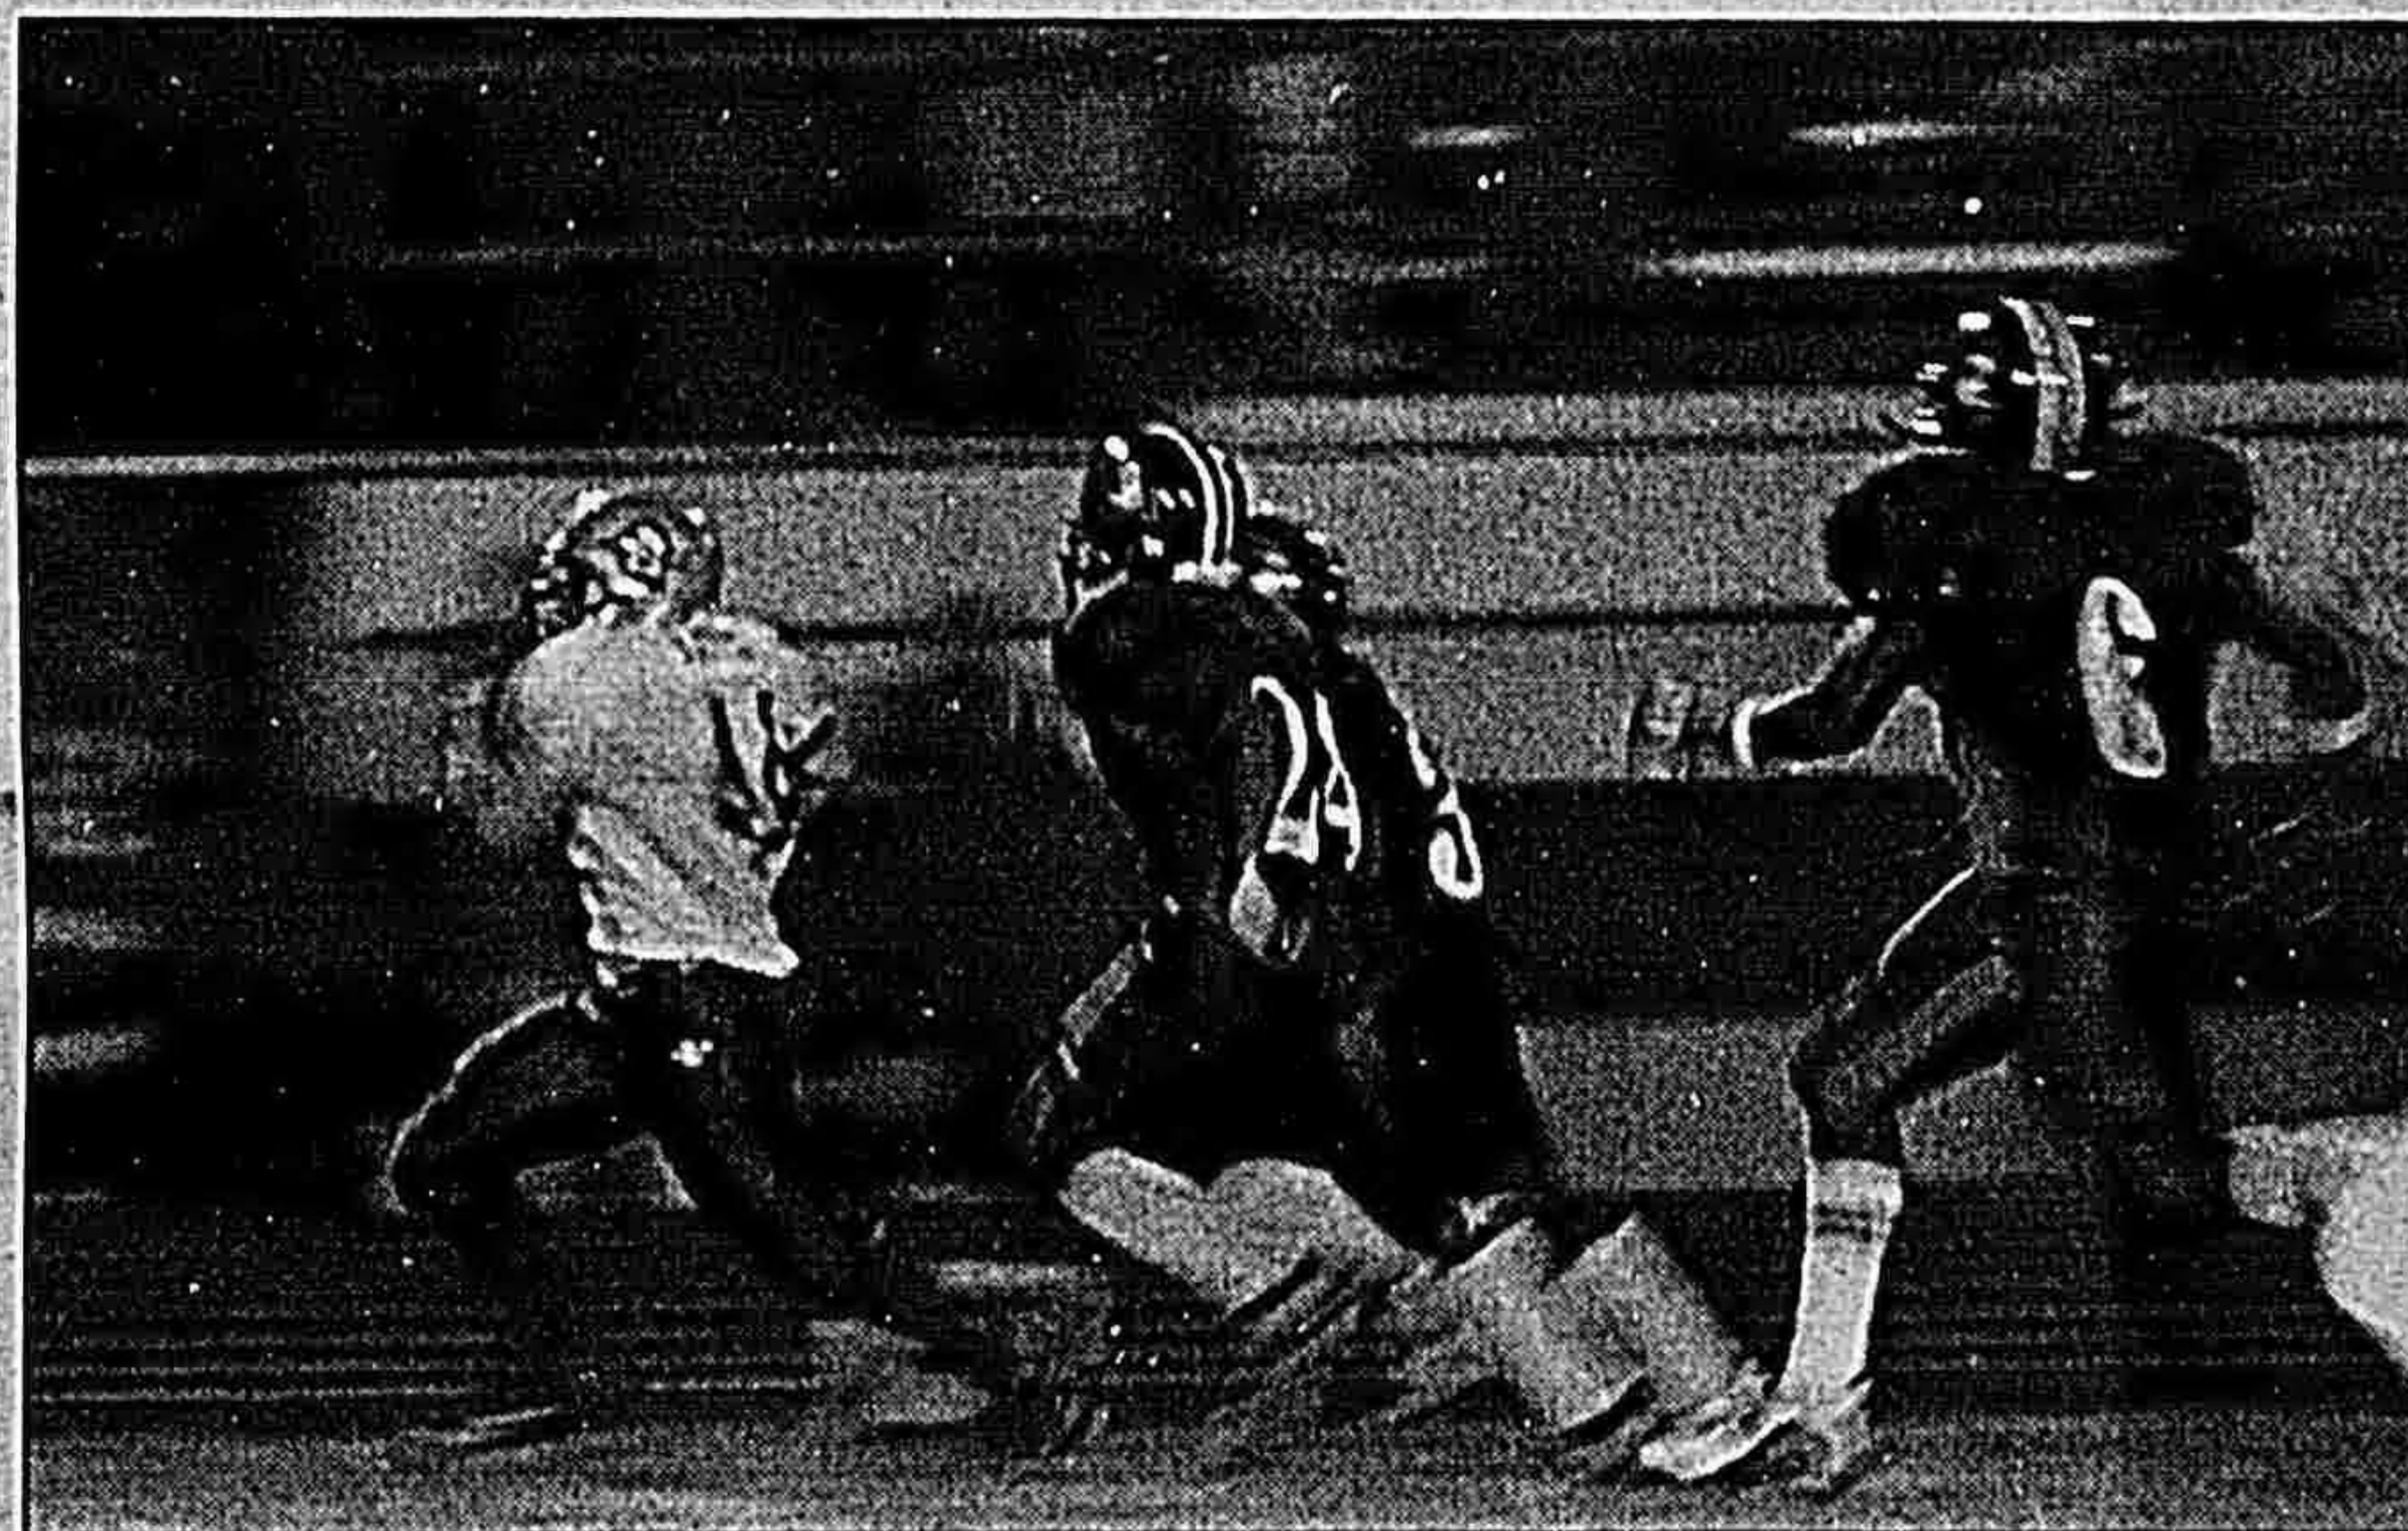

"We need to hold our blocks longer and run harder," Pechauer said. "And we have to wrap better on our tackles. We have to work on the little things."

The Sequoits will host Wauconda in an NSC cross over on Saturday, Sept. 12 at 1:30 p.m.

"Wauconda throws the ball a lot," Pechauer said. "So our pass D needs to be solid. Larkin showed us that there's still a lot of work to do."

Antioch hangs tough at Jacobs Invite

Sports Editor

Despite a 2-3 record in the always tough, eight-team Jacobs Invite, Antioch girls volleyball coach Bob Schenk likes what he saw.

"Our goal was to improve throughout the day," Schenk said. "We played a whole lot better as we went along, so we accomplished what we wanted."

The Sequoits opened the tournament with two losses, to Jacobs (25-18, 25-13) and Crystal Lake Central (25-22, 23-25, 25-12), respectively.

But they bounced back with wins over Kaneland (25-19, 25-13) and Elgin (25-14, 25-10) before losing to Stevenson 25-20, 21-25, 25-20 in the consolation final.

"We have some long matches, and it would have been nice to win over Stevenson," Schenk said. "But we made a lot of hitting errors, which with the new rally scoring system, gave them the win."

Kate Hofeldt (51 kills) and Ashley Wisler (31 assists) were named to the All-Tournament team.

Tracy Heitman (18 kills), Tara Heitman (13 aces, 20 assists) and Katherine Reynolds (7 aces, 42 digs) also had outstanding tournaments.

The Sequoits were without the services of second leading hitter Kristi Mihovilovich, who was out with a sprained ankle.

But Mihovilovich was back for Antioch's 25-18, 25-9 win over Waukegan and had six kills.

Hofeldt (10 kills), Wisler (8 assists), Maggie Lonergan (8 assists) and Jennie Dewar (5 blocks) also contributed to the win.

"The first game we came out and made nine hitting errors," Schenk said. "But we looked sharper in the second game. Hopefully before we face Lake Forest we can execute a little better."

Schenk has a lot of confidence in his team, despite its tough schedule.

"We face eight of the top 16 teams in the state from last year," Schenk said. "This is maybe the toughest schedule in school history. But we should improve as the season progresses."

The Sequoits will be at Lake Forest on Sept. 12 at 7 p.m.

YOUTH FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Antioch lightweight gold squad holds only Viking victory of the weekend

On a sweltering day, the Antioch Viking Lightweight Gold team earned a hard-fought 12-0 victory over the Raiders from Crystal Lake.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Vikings went on a long, twelve-play march which featured punishing runs by backs Joey Anderko and Richard Gibson and two key fourth down sweeps by wingback Jay Hagert, both resulting in first downs.

The offensive line of Jared Baked, Kevin Cahill, Adam Garcia, Craig Tanner, Dan Beake and anchored by center Nick Marsalek created large holes on the drive.

Quarterback Chris Utes capped the drive with a one-yard sneak behind Marsalek's crushing block.

The other Viking score came early in the second half. After stopping the Raiders on their first possession after halftime, the Vikings took over deep in their own territory. Facing a third and ten from the 21 yard line, Utes handed the ball to Jay Hagert on a reverse and Hagert streaked 79 yards, breaking several tackles along the way for the touchdown.

The Viking defense was again impenetrable, allowing only three Raider first downs and shutting them down on every possession.

James Androus and Anderko again led the way, punishing Raider ball carriers and closing both inside and outside routes. The line play of Cahill, Tanner, Alex Shaw and Androus and linebackers Anderko, Tim McLynn, Gibson and Antuan Hall stopped the Raider running game, and corners Kyle Olson and Andre Skula controlled the Raider's passing game.

On two occasions when it looked like the Raiders may break a big play, saving tackles were made by McLynn and Olson on a pass play and Hagert made a touchdown saving tackle when a Raider runner broke into the open on a sweep.

The 2-0 Vikings travel to Barrington on Saturday, Sept. 13 to face a tough Bronco team.

Sunday lightweights drop second in a row

The Viking defense was overwhelmed by a fierce Crystal Lake Raider team who seemed to score at will in a 43-6 loss Saturday night at Crystal Lake's Lippold field.

The Vikings' only touchdown was with an impressive run by running back Ryan Williams, but it was too little too late to make a difference in the game.

Antioch also lost ace kicker Jake Sinkovec for several weeks due to a broken arm suffered the previous night.

The Vikings hope to improve on the season next week against the Lake Zurich Flames at Antioch.

Saturday Bantams Lose at Lake Zurich

The Viking Saturday Bantam squad gave it their all but came up short in a 19-6 loss against the Lake Zurich Flames at Knox Park on Saturday.

Viking defensive lineman Andrew Gagnon showed impressive drive with some fierce tackles on the Lake Zurich running backs.

Antioch's only score came on a 50-yard sprint by Viking quarterback Katie Keefe. Antioch hopes for its first win of the season against the Grayslake Colts at home on Sept. 13.

Lots of 'D', little 'O' for Grayslake

By ROB BACKUS
Sports Editor

While the old adage may go "defense wins championships", the offense still has to score occasionally for the team to be successful.

Unfortunately for Grayslake, the offense was shutout in a 6-0 loss to Crystal Lake South.

"The loss is pretty discouraging," Grayslake coach Vito Andriola said. "We had chances to win, but we didn't take advantage of them."

The one big chance came at the end of the first half, when Grayslake had first-and-goal from the Gators' 6-yard line. However, three incomplete passes and a missed field goal later, the Rams came away empty and went into the half down 3-0.

"The breaks will come, but you also need to create your own," Andriola said. "We need to take advantage of opportunities."

The Rams' offense, which scored 14 points in the previous week, tallied just 150 yards of total offense against Crystal Lake South, and turned the ball over several times.

"We always make plays on defense, but we haven't made any yet on offense," Andriola said. "We work on our offense a lot; it will come."

However, while Andriola was disheartened by the loss, he was pleased once again with the play of his defense, which for the second straight week held the opposition without a touchdown.

"Doug Hanson, Mark Grossman and Seth McCrory all did outstanding jobs on defense," Andriola said. "But we're probably the only team in Illinois that hasn't given up a touchdown, but is 1-1."

However, things are looking up for Grayslake's embattled offense as they will face Jacobs (1-1) which gave up 35 points in a loss to Lake Zurich last week and 21 points in a win over Dundee-Crown the opening week of the season.

"Jacobs scores a lot of points and they give up a lot of points," Andriola said. "They're the fastest team in the (Fox Valley) conference, but hopefully we'll get on the board."

Grayslake will face Jacobs in Algonquin on Friday, Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Peggy Jean Webster of Woodstock dances a round dance with John Kershaw, also of Woodstock, with the McHenry Bachelors 'N' Bachelorettes Square Dance Club at the Johnsburg Community Club.

Hip to be square

Story and photos by SANDY BRESSNER

For just $5 and some dancing shoes, you can join the McHenry Bachelors 'N' Bachelorettes for some good, old fashioned square dancing fun.

The club, now in its 26th year and boasting 60 members from throughout northern Illinois, meets the first and third Friday of every month at the Johnsburg Community Club. The McHenry B'N'B is also one of the last square dance organizations, besides the Highland Park Hi Steppers and clubs in southern Wisconsin, still in existence in the area. Waukegan's Buoy and Belles held its last dance Aug. 29. The dances begin with a cuer for the traditional round dance, which is more like ballroom dancing but with someone calling out different dance moves along with the music.

Donna Carpenter, who has been dancing for 27 years, of Island Lake said, "A friend of mine talked me into it. He said 'You're gonna love it' and he was right. I never stopped after that."

The club also offers 10 weeks of lessons on Thursday nights, which began with a free introductory lesson Sept. 11 at the Nunda Township Hall. For more information, contact Joe at 847-336-4738, Lloyd at 815-356-6285 or Carolyn at 847-740-1614.

Lil' Rev

Larry Penn

Off Square Music keeps tradition alive with great folk music artists

Off Square Music presents "Lil' Rev" and "Larry Penn" two great folk performances in one evening Sept. 20, 8 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, 221 Dean St. in Woodstock.

Lil' Rev is a highly acclaimed multi-instrumentalist and Hohner harmonica national champion, performing folk, blues, Tin-Pan-Alley (pop standards of 1920's & 30's), Irish, waltzes, polkas and original music. The Milwaukee Shepherd Express gave him the Best Acoustic Act award in 1996 and wrote, "Lil' Rev is a young man who is keeping an old musical tradition alive. He walks around the room singing old songs and explaining their origins to the audience, all the while vamping chords and keeping time with his foot." His music has been described as a feel-good, foot stomping, laughing, and learning experience.

Larry Penn has been called a skillful songwriter with an acute sense of imagery.

From a song bag mixed with collected tradition, Larry Penn sings and tells stories of hard work, trains, trucks, life on the road, love and pink flamingos. He claims songs that have been recorded by at least thirty other performers such as Pete Seeger, John McCutcheon and Claudia Schmidt.

Penn is a three-decade veteran performer who has played a range of venues that has taken him from hobo camp fires to the Fiat Motor Company's 1990 Musica E. Lovoro in Torino, Italy.

Admission $10. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. For reservations/information call Keith at 815-338-5164 or e-mail him at blueloom@mc.net. Visit the web site at www.offsquaremusic.org.

SPECIAL EVENT

Walking for Asthma

AsthmaWalk on Sept. 28, aims to underscore the need for education and research on a disease that continues to strike hard in Chicagoland.

Finch University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School will team up with the American Lung Association of Metropolitan Chicago (ALAMC) to co-sponsor a three-mile walk on Sunday, Sept. 28, 10 a.m. in Lincoln Park at 3600 North Addison and Lakeshore Drive, Grove 15. With other walk sites in Schaumburg, Batavia and Vernon Hills, the third annual AsthmaWalk makes it possible for participants to walk for a good cause — raising awareness and supporting research and treatment — in their own neighborhoods.

The prevalence of asthma in the United States is currently six percent (25 million sufferers), with an even higher incidence in Chicago, where eight percent of the population battles asthma every day. You may have heard that there is an asthma epidemic. But what you probably haven't heard is this: Chicago is its ground zero—our death rate is the highest in the nation. (Chicago Tribune Magazine, April 27, 2003). According to the ALAMC, the asthma death rate for African Americans in Illinois is more than four times the national average. Asthma is also the leading cause of hospitalization among children in Illinois. Through events like the AsthmaWalk, ALAMC and its sponsors, such as Finch University/The Chicago Medical School, encourage the public to dedicate themselves to education, treatment and a cure.

Funds raised at the walk will be invested in asthma education programs, asthma camps and in asthma research conducted at some of the area's finest medical institutions.

Classic Car Rally returns

Salute to Our Troops and the Red, White, and Blue" is the theme for the 26th Annual Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally. Hundreds of classic and special interest vehicles will converge on the Lake Geneva area for the 26th Annual Lake Geneva Fall event Saturday and Sunday Sept. 27 and 28.

Originating in 1978 as a local automobile event to commemorate their infant daughter, Corinne, the Lake Geneva Classic Car Rally was founded by George and Janice Kreissl of Lake Geneva. The annual rally benefits American Cancer Society's childhood cancer research in memory of Corinne Kreissl.

The weekend long excursion runs from Friday evening to late Sunday afternoon and covers a variety of activities. Beginning with the "Taste of the Car Rally at Richardson's" on Friday evening and continuing on Saturday with the "Up Close and Personal Vehicle Encounter" at the lake front, followed by a parade through Lake Geneva and a hospitality hour at the Interlaken Chalet. One of the many stops on the weekend long poker run will be a tour of the famous lake Geneva landmark, Yerkes

Observatory in Williams Bay, followed by Eddie Cash. Saturday evening the "Hubcap Runningboard USO Dance featuring The Airmen of Swing Band will be featured at the legendary Riviera Ballroom on the lake until midnight.

Sunday, as dealing around the lake continues, registration for the lake tour runs to 11 a.m. when the completed tour vehicles start getting ready for the Grand Car Show near the Chalet. Fly-overs by WWII and classic aircraft will start around noon. Prizes and plaques will be awarded about 2:30 p.m. to conclude the weekend long event.

To date, $458,655 has been raised for the American Cancer Society through the Corinne Kreissl Memorial Foundation Grant for Childhood Cancer Research.

The host site, Interlaken Resort and Country Spa will provide the starting and finishing point for the two-day event. Registration will be at the Chalet and the Grand Car Show Finale will also be held there with acres of parking available around the Chalet.

Registration is on Saturday from 11:30 a.m.-6 p.m. and on Sunday from 8 a.m.-11 a.m. At 2:30 p.m. on Sunday prizes, trophies, consolation prizes and dash plaques to participate will be awarded as well as many door prizes from area businesses. Souvenir badges will be sold on the grounds all weekend for a $2 donation, but admission to the event is free.

Participants in the rally can register by mail by contacting the Corinne Kreissl Memorial Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 732, Lake Geneva, Wis. 53147. Registration forms are also available at the Geneva Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and at all participating locations, for dance reservations or additional information, call 262-248-2764.

Woodstock welcomes

RIDERS In The SKY

America's Favorite Cowboys

Too Slim

Joey 'The CowPolka King'

Woody Paul

Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren Str. in Woodstock, presents "Riders in the Sky," a music concert Friday, Sept. 12 at 8 p.m., and Saturday, Sept. 13 at 4 and 8 p.m.

Some call it cowboy music; some call it folk music; some call it the best in Western music. Call it what you like—the bottom line is this: Riders In The Sky deliver pure and priceless entertainment. The moment America's Favorite Cowboys step up to the microphone the magic begins, allowing listeners to leave behind the frenzied pace of today's living and lose themselves in the romantic, comical and whimsical world of the singing cowboy.

Since 1977, Riders In The Sky have faithfully tended a musical tradition kindled by singing cowboy legends such as Gene Autry and the Sons of the Pioneers. Throughout their collaborative career, Riders have branded the genre with their own mark, crafted from a well-balanced mix of both classic and original western songs, smooth harmony, hot licks and slapstick comedy. Over a quarter century, more than 4,500 shows, 290 national TV appearances, 203 public radio shows, nearly 700 Grand Ole Opry appearances, 2.3 million miles on the road, three television series and 31 albums down the trail, a group that began with a commitment to carry on an American musical tradition has itself become a national treasure.

The Riders' enthralling act centers around the expert musicianship of Ranger Doug (Idol of American Youth), Woody Paul (King of the Cowboy Fiddlers), Too Slim (Insert Title of Your Choice Here) and Joey "The CowPolka King". They combine refreshing acoustical music and a wide musical repertoire with outrageous comedy, delivering entertainment guaranteed to delight listeners, regardless of age or musical preference. To add to the fun, the Riders are often visited by one or more of their many faithful (and bizarre) sidekicks.

Riders In The Sky bring their music to the world with more than 200 live performances a year. In addition, they've created and hosted Riders' Radio Theater, a radio program that's been broadcast by over 170 public and commercial stations since 1989. They've recorded more than 20 albums and starred in their own Saturday morning TV series for CBS. They hosted Tumbleweed Theater for four years on The Nashville Network, appeared many times on Austin City Limits, starred in their own television specials, and are performing members of the Grand Ole Opry.

In 1999, Riders brought the singing cowboy back to the big screen in a new way as they provided music for Disney/Pixar's "Toy Story 2" with their rendition of "Woody's Roundup." They then recorded a "companion album" for the movie: "Woody's Roundup featuring Riders In The Sky." The album, produced by Riders' performing member Joey "The CowPolka King," landed Riders In The Sky a Grammy Award for Best Children's Album in 2001. The following year, Riders received Oscar accolades from onstage at the Academy Awards. Riders In The Sky had written and performed the music for "For The Birds," an animated short film from Pixar Animation Studios that opened worldwide for Disney's Monsters Inc. In 2003, Riders roped a second Grammy Award, this time for their album release Walt Disney Record's Monsters Inc., "Scream Factory Favorites," also produced by Joey. The legend continues....

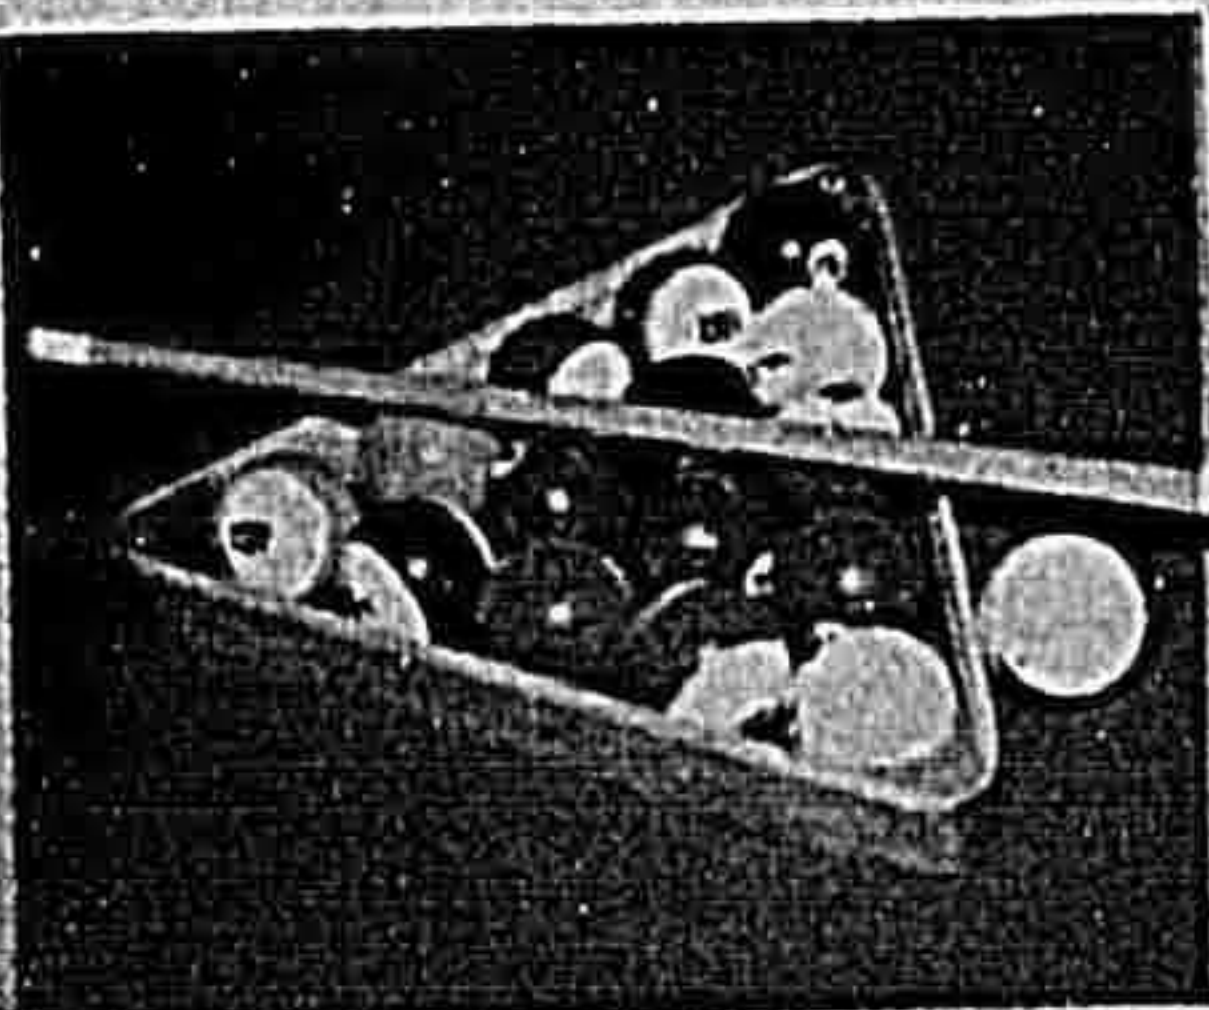

If you're a fan of the Old West, good comedy, stellar harmony or "mighty fine" family entertainment—or if you simply have a pulse—and you haven't heard of Riders In The Sky, you won't believe what you've been missing. If you're a Riders In The Sky novice or established Saddle Pal, we needn't say more. Either way, hang your hat and stay a while.

Even old people were young once

This unique love story tells the tale of a documentary filmmaker who seeks out and interviews a former movie legend of 30 years ago. He learns about her reclusive life and her quest to reconnect with her first love.

As a young girl, Chiyoko Fujiwara helped an injured artist escape from government authorities during a repressive period in Japan. She is encouraged for the good of the state to become an actress. When she realizes that she may be able to find the young man because the filming location is where he is reported to be, she has a sudden passion to pursue an acting career. And some moviegoers may discover they take delight in watching a well-done anime film.

This love story is for those of you who like movies like last year's Academy Award winning animation film, "Spirited Away." Anime is a form of animation, but unlike the more familiar "Shrek" or "Finding Nemo," both wonderful movies. The characters move and express themselves in a more realistic style, as if the actors were there on screen in person.

This film is epic in that it shows Chiyoko playing different roles in Japanese history from the 1600s to the mid-1940s. At various times the documentary filmmaker appears in the scene with his cameraman, both when Chiyoko is a child and later as an adult making some of her movies.

Unlike most romantic films where two people come together at the beginning of the film, experience some conflict, and walk hand in hand into the sunset as the credits begin to roll, this is somewhat different. "Millennium Actress" does have a happy ending that places into perspective that sometimes the joy of the chase can be as good or better than obtaining the prize. Playing at the Esquire Theater in Chicago.

These films are currently playing at local theaters. More reviews of these and other films can be found under Current Movie Reviews and Future Films at www.reelmoviecritic.com.

Complete Freedom of Expression

This film was first shown at last year's Toronto International Film Festival to mixed reviews, to include the observations by some that it expresses anti-American views. "Anti" implies hate and while it does not do that, the film is sometimes critical of our foreign policy, yet it is consistently sympathetic and supportive of the victims.

Unlike a traditional motion picture that tells a story from the viewpoint of a single director, this film incorporates the work of 11 "top-of-their-game" directors from around the world, in which each contributes a short film of exactly 11 minutes, 11 seconds, and one frame. Each director had complete artistic control over every aspect of his or her film, other than its length. As expected, the feelings and the method and style of expression varies considerably.

The films generally fall into three categories: enlightening/provocative, unsure of what they are really saying, or somewhat silly. Three shorts that carry the movie are by Ken Loach (Britain), Alejandro Gonzalez Inarritu (Mexico) and Mira Nair (India).

Loach contrasts the attacks of 2001 with the American-backed Chilean coup of an elected head of state, ironically also on a Tuesday, Sept. 11, but 30 years ago in 1973.

Inarritu captures the thoughts of victims who knew they were going to die with a screen that is dark half of the time.

Nair shows the feelings of a New York City Muslim family whose son went from being a suspected terrorist to a hero.

Other segments deal with ghosts, or young children in the hinterlands trying to imagine the size of the World Trade Center, as their teacher describes it. And a couple tries to figure if they should make up or break up; the woman is deaf and lives near the WTC, and her lover does tours of the facility.

We felt the strongest jab at the U.S. government and the American mindset was the implication that events which occur in places like Chile, Israel and Africa are not considered as important to Americans as we'd like for citizens of those countries to feel about what has happened to us.

The film does an outstanding job in showing how the world looks at us. We see whatever image each of us perceives when we look in the mirror but it's good to know what others see when they are looking at us. Some of our enemies today at one time were our friends.

Food for thought.

Playing at the Music Box in Chicago.

Steve Martin finds wry humor in 'The Underpants' adaptation

CRITICS CHOICE
By Tom Witom

Steve Martin's inspired first play, "Picasso at the Lapin Agile," did very well when it opened a few years ago at Chicago's Steppenwolf Theater.

Now his adaptation of "The Underpants," a 1911 farce by Jewish playwright Carl Sternheim, is having its Midwest premiere at the Noble Fool Theater in Chicago. And it's a blast.

The entertaining comedy, set in 1910 in Dusseldorf, takes place entirely in the modest apartment of a German civil servant. Earlier, Louise, his wife, had caused a major embarrassment. While watching a procession of the king, the wife's undies loosened and fell to her ankles, the brief public display causing a minor scandal.

Theo, a stereotypical prig played with strait-laced propriety by Danny McCarthy, is mortified by the incident and frets over the security of his job as a government clerk. But a demure and attractive Louise (Kathleen Logelin, in a smart performance) brushes off the whole thing, arguing that the reaction was overblown.

Repercussions, however, do ensue.

Theo and Louise find there is plenty of interest in the rooms they have to sublet. They take on two boarders in their apartment: Versati (Timothy Edward Kane), a flamboyant, unpublished poet and Cohen (Jimmie Meader), a fidgety barber who tries to hide his Jewishness. It turns out both men had witnessed the underpants display and are captivated by their fantasies for Louise.

To the delight of a nosy neighbor (Meighan Gerachis), love-starved Louise contemplates an affair with the flamboyant Versati. A jealous Cohen, though rebuffed by Louise, isn't about to make things easy for Versati.

On that score, he needn't worry. The poet is more wrapped up in romanticizing romance and composing his verse.

Martin's script presents a witty, comical snapshot of social commentary from a bygone era—as amusing now as it was then.

And director Karen Kessler, mining "The Underpants" for laughs, finds a goldmine.

Banana brownies add flair to familiar treat

Brownies are a universal dessert favorite. And there are countless ways to prepare them.

Bruce Weinstein explores dozens of possibilities in "The Ultimate Brownie Book" (William Morrow, 2003), covering everything from equipment to ingredients in his latest volume.

Weinstein puts a nice twist on a traditional favorite with his Banana Brownies. The author, who also wrote "The Ultimate Ice Cream Book," recommends that after 20 minutes' baking time you rap the pan against the oven rack three or four times; then allow the baking process to continue undisturbed for the remaining 15 minutes. Alternatives to vanilla are maple or coconut extracts, which can add an intriguing flavor accent. We also couldn't resist adding 3/4 cup of chopped pecans to the mix.

Banana Brownies

3/4 cup all-purpose flour, plus additional for the pan
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
8 Tbl. (1 stick) unsalted butter, plus additional for the pan, room temperature

6 oz. bittersweet or semi-sweet chocolate, chopped, or semisweet chocolate chips
2 oz. unsweetened chocolate, chopped
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup packed lt. brown sugar

2 large eggs, at room temperature
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 ripe bananas, peeled and mashed (about 1 cup)
1 Tbl. banana liqueur (optional)

1) Position the rack in the lower third of the oven. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Butter and flour a 9x13-inch baking pan; set it aside. 2) In a medium bowl, whisk the flour, baking soda and salt until well combined. Set aside. 3) Place 3 tablespoons butter and both kinds of chocolate in the top of a double boiler set over simmering water. If you don't have a double boiler, place 3 tablespoons butter and both kinds of chocolate in a heat-safe bowl that fits snugly over a small pot of simmering water. Stir constantly until half the butter and chocolate is melted. Remove the top of the double boiler or the bowl from the pot; then continue stirring away from the heat, until the butter and chocolate are completely melted. Allow to cool for 10 minutes. 4) Meanwhile, cream the remaining 5 tablespoons butter, granulated sugar and brown sugar in a large bowl with an electric mixer at medium speed. Combine beating until the sugar has dissolved and the mixture is smooth, about 4 minutes, scraping down the sides of the bowl as necessary. Beat in the eggs one at a time, allowing the first to be thoroughly incorporated before adding the second. After beating in the second egg for 1 minute, add the vanilla, bananas, banana liqueur, if desired, and the chocolate mixture. Continue beating until the batter is smooth, about 2 minutes. 5) With a wooden spoon or rubber spatula, stir in the flour mixture just until combined. Do not beat. Spoon the batter into the prepared pan, spreading it gently to the corners. 6) Bake for 35 minutes, or until a toothpick or cake tester comes out with a few moist crumbs attached. Set the pan on a wire rack to cool for at least 30 minutes. 7) Cut the brownies into 24 pieces while they are still in the pan. Carefully remove them with an offset spatula. Serve immediately, or let cool completely before covering with plastic wrap for storage at room temperature. They will stay fresh for up to 4 days. The brownies can be tightly wrapped in waxed paper, sealed in a freezer-safe bag and frozen for up to 2 months; allow them to thaw at room temperature before serving.

Consumption Digest: Products that don't deserve to live

A crowd was forming. I kept desperately clawing with my fingernails, hoping for some shred of success.

Too late...I couldn't stall any longer. A hand let go of a squirming child and jiggled the door handle of mine. The frustrated mom sealed my fate with, "Listen, honey, it's not like MOMMY doesn't know you have to go!"

Maybe now you gents will have some empathy for the ladies who seem to take forever in the restroom. While most of the time men don't have to "take it sitting down", women are just plain sitting ducks for the brainchild of some sadistic toilet paper Nazi. It's the number one product on my "Consumption Digest" hit list: the anal retentive TP dispenser that gives up only one flimsy micro-fiber at a time.

Look for this despicable device in the feature article on "Tight Fisted Products". Here's where you can also read up on brands of clear mailing tape that fuse into a solid mass, driving you to loose ends looking for a

ON LIFE

Leslie Glazier-Werner

loose end. And here too you'll run across plastic lidded containers that only open when a semi runs across them.

(Be sure to pick up the "Consumption Digest Year in Review" if you're looking to bone up on stingy standards like plastic wrap that doesn't come off the roll, or grocery produce bags that refuse to "open up for Mommy".)

At the other end of the spectrum, "Consumption Digest" has a column called "Chamber of Horowitz"—describing products that let loose, unleashing all kinds of mayhem on the consumer.

Excuse me while I do battle with "numero uno" in this category. When my washing machine hits the spin cycle, the only way I can keep it from walking out of the laundry room is by pretending I'm a sumo wrestler with a major appliance fetish.

Then there's my son's alarm clock. Since he's a normal, healthy teenager, he sleeps right through a wake up call that should be reserved for nuclear power plant meltdowns.

The list goes on. My husband threatens to riddle my bird-call clock with buckshot. We all know the torture of car alarms sounding off at midnight, or impromptu cell phone solos during sermons. And why do movie theatres feel the need to melt earwax by playing those endless previews at top volume?

The consumer must be vigilante. In a piece titled "Your Friendly Sponsors", the reader can steal himself for the latest marketing innovations. For example, thanks to automatic coupon dispensers, my kids see every grocery store aisle as an opportunity for another ticker tape parade.

Big Brother has also taken to hawking his wares at your local gas station. Unfortunately, he's delivering sales pitches over an audio system that gives the speaker the tonal quality of a drowning Lloyd Bridges. I still haven't figure out if the last guy was trying to say, "windshield wiper fluid now on sale!" or "get a 'wide load' sign on that tail!"

Speaking of a big load, "Consumption Digest" would be letting down its readers if it didn't address the bane of every family who's ended up throwing their bean sprouts, rice cakes and soy burgers in the compost bin. Under "Self Image Slaughterers" you'll find items like in-store video cameras and flowered Capri pants. (Guess what I was wearing when I rolled past the live wide screen TV in the warehouse store with my cart full of day old bakery goods.)

So much for the "Consumption Digest" products on personal recall...my short-term memory is not what is used to be. Send me your own personal favorites. I'm sure the next issue will be chock full.

Leslie Glazier-Werner can be contacted at lesismore@msn.com.

AT A GLANCE

Village founder dies

Vernon Hills—Bernard "Barney" Loeb, called the founder of Vernon Hills, died Aug. 29 at age 84.

Loeb, along with partner Quinn Hogan, developed many residential areas in and around Libertyville, and in the late 1950s and built 20 homes on land formerly farmed for corn, off Route 45.

Police hunt robbers

Mundelein—Police are searching for two men who held up a Mundelein grocery store on Sept. 5. Two masked men entered the Santa Fe Supermarket, formerly known as Supermercado, and held three employees at gunpoint and stole an undisclosed amount of money.

One of the gunmen is described as Hispanic with a dark complexion, 5-feet 8-inches tall with a heavy build. The other man was described as Hispanic with a dark complexion, 6-feet 2-inches tall and a thinner build.

Stench investigated

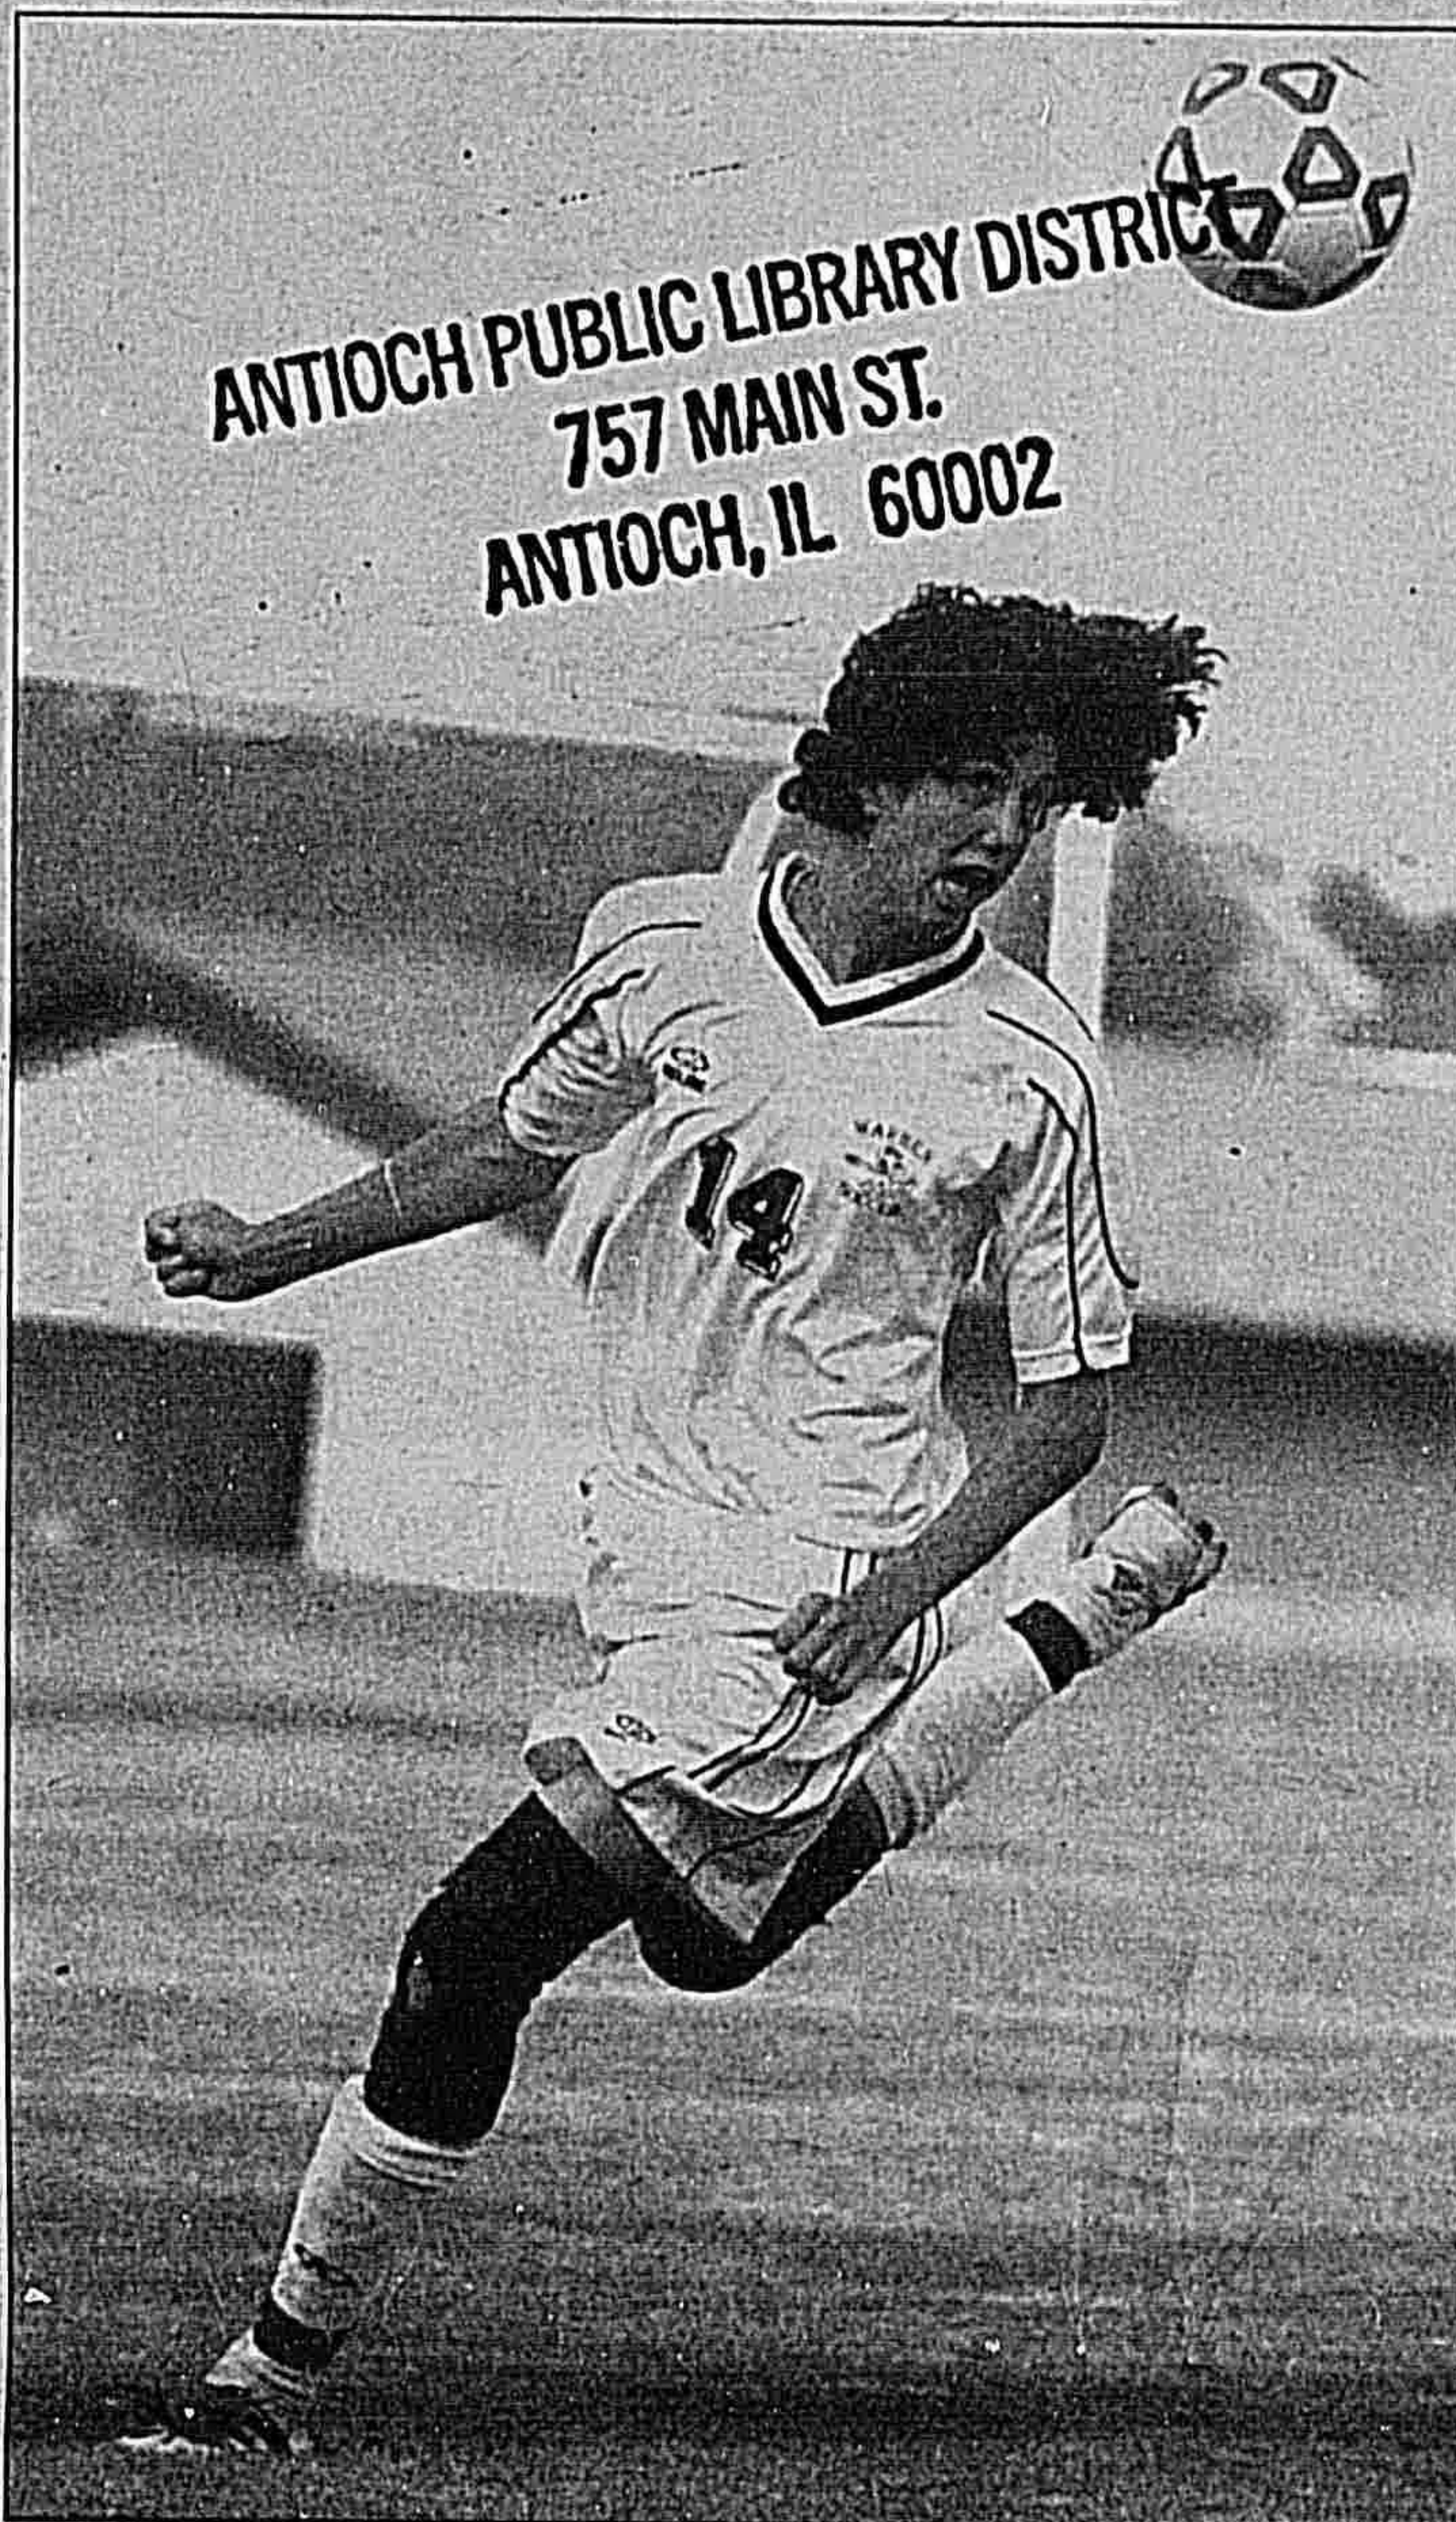

Gurnee—A complaint made by residents of Gurnee's Peanutville neighborhood of a foul odor emanating from trucks parked in a nearby industrial parking lot has sparked an investigation into Mr. Bults Inc., the company that owns the trucks.

When the trucks don't make it to the landfills before closing time, garbage festers and a stench permeates the air. Nearby residents say that the smell is unbearable. More than 40 have signed a petition in an effort to remove the trucks, and on Labor Day and filed with the Gurnee Police Department.

IEPA hears concerns

Wauconda—The Illinois EPA held a public hearing here to hear the concerns of residents on or near Fiddle Creek who will be impacted by the increased outflow from a water treatment plant expansion proposed by the village. Residents voiced their concerns about the accuracy of the IEPA's testing and their willingness to take into consideration problems that have arisen in the past with Wauconda's the plant, but the IEPA is not expected to reach a decision for several months.

Still strong feelings on anniversary of Sept. 11

But few remembrance ceremonies this year

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

Who can forget the events of Sept. 11 when Arab terrorists hijacked and flew planes into the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and into a field in Pennsylvania in an attempt to destroy the greatest nation on earth?

Their only success was in rekindling the United States patriotic spirit and displaying the heroism of police officers, civilians and firemen as they helped each other to survive in this nation's darkest hour.

As the nation recovered, Lake County schools such as Antioch High School raised and donated more than $10,000 to the Red Cross. Beach Elementary School in Round Lake Beach raised more than $650 and the Magee Middle School in Round Lake raised more than $1,000 to help the survivors.

Some schools even hosted blood drives.

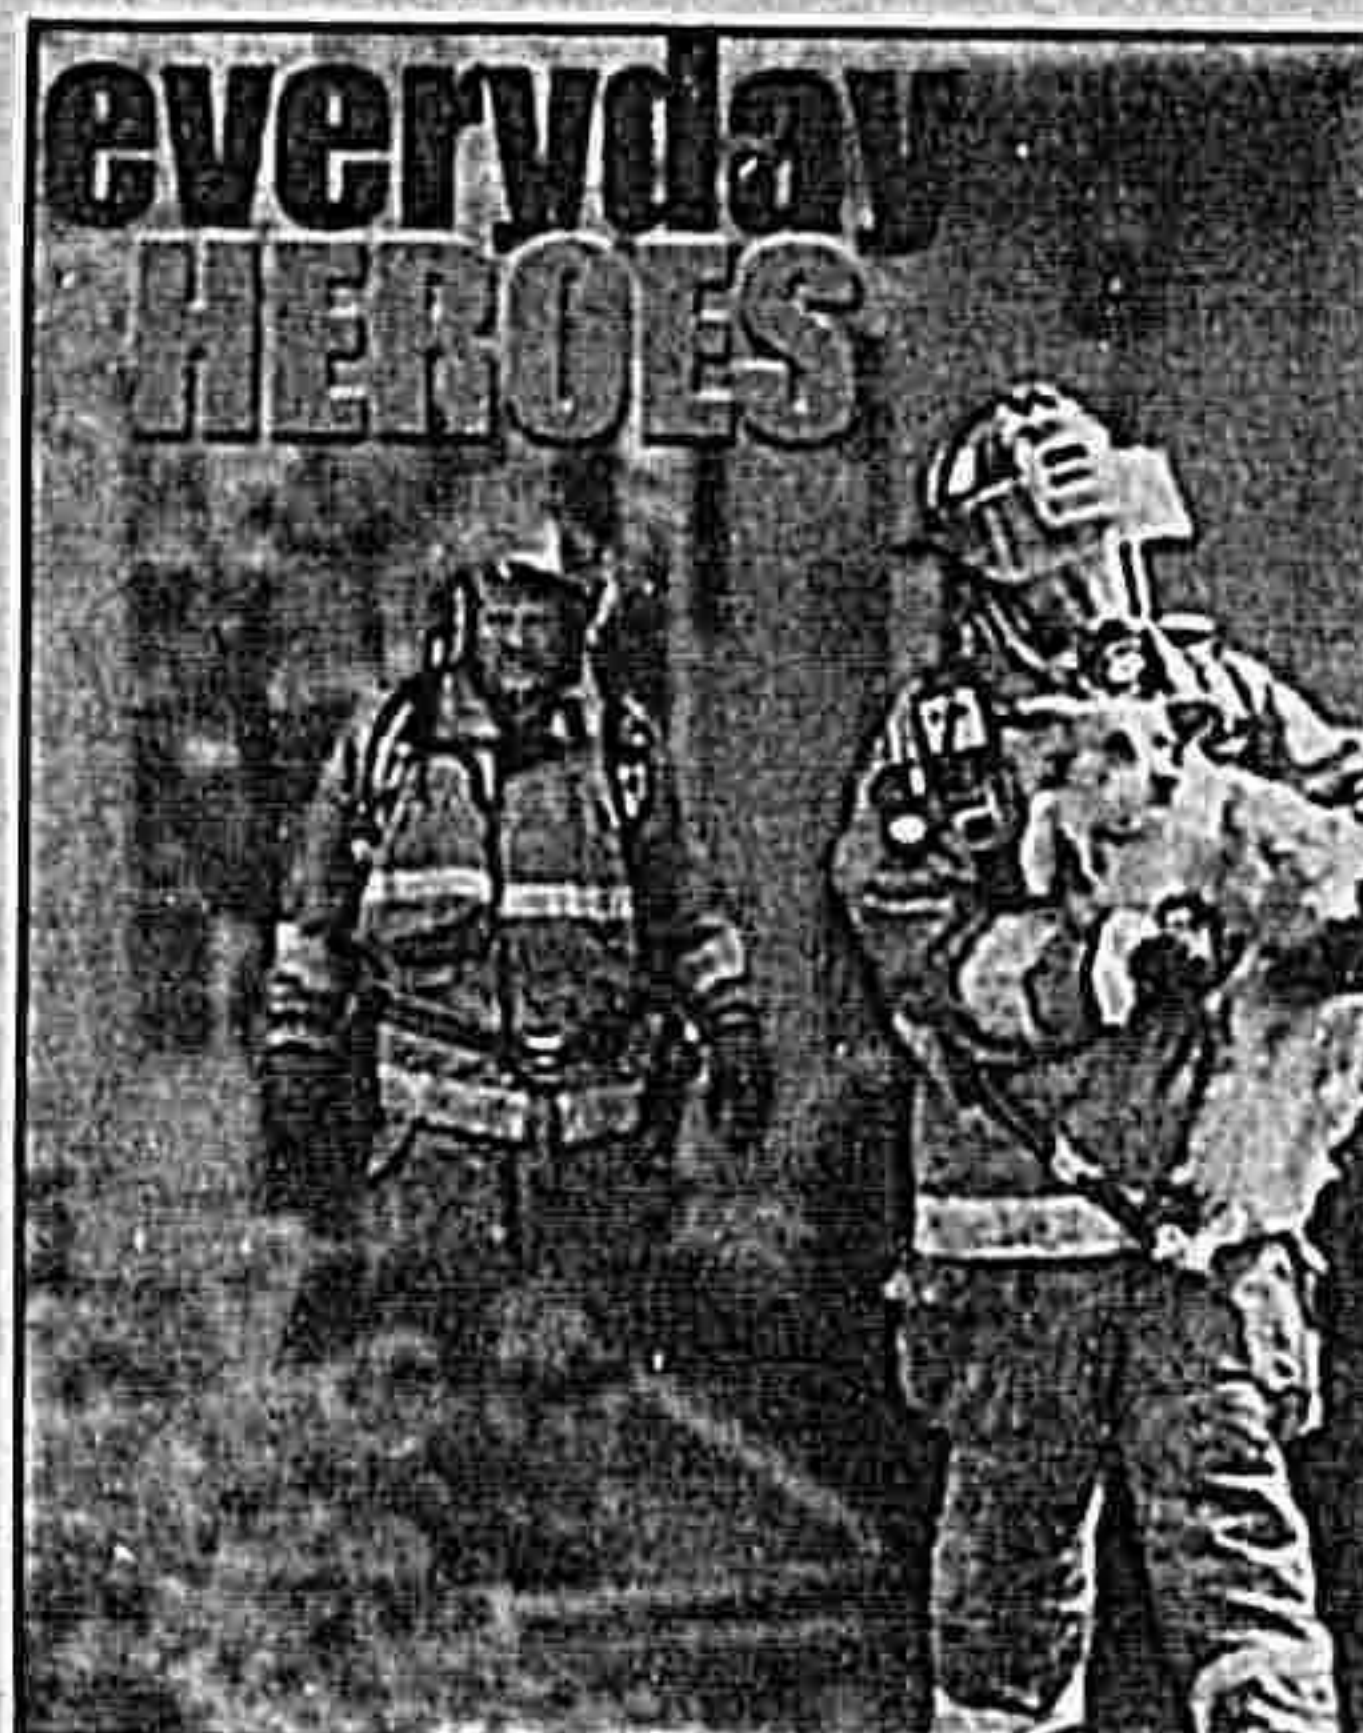

One year later, on Sept. 11, 2002, ordinary people came forward to reflect in memorial services throughout Lake County—in communities such as Antioch, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Lake Villa, Libertyville, Mundelein Wauconda and in Round Lake Beach.

Like Murphy School in Round Lake Park, many schools remembered those who died by planting trees and with a moment of silence.

Once again, schools and communities are remembering that tragic day.

PULLOUT INSIDE

A special section tribute to Lake County's finest

Hainesville Mayor Ted Mueller, a former US Navy Seaman combat veteran who served in World War II from 1942-46, ordered his village's flags to be flown at half-staff.

"I think it's a good idea to keep the day at a low key, but we flew our flags at half-mast out of respect for the people who gave their lives. That is one day I will never forget. I remember where I was when Pearl Harbor was bombed, and where I was when John Kennedy was shot and now I remember where I was on 9/11."

In an emotional ceremony in the Lincoln Plaza in Waukegan, firefighters, police officers and military personnel from 30 communities paid respect to those who died on Sept. 11.

The College of Lake County in Grayslake also had a memorial.

Ellis Elementary School in Round Lake Beach had its annual luncheon for heroes on Sept. 11.

County Board selects new health insurer

By CAREL SCHMIDKOEFER
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Board has approved a resolution to award Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Illinois a contract to provide health insurance services for Lake County.

The estimated annual rate of $4,384,707, plus renewals, will allow for Blue Cross Blue Shield, of Oakbrook, to administer third party claims for HMO and PPO plans and a prescription drug card program for employees of the county's Human Resource department, their dependents and retirees.

The program is limited to the Blue Shield/Blue Cross' network of physicians, said Brent Paxton, chair of the financial and administrative committee.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield won the award after submitting the lowest bid for the contract, according to Human Resources representatives and a selection review committee.

The company also offers the broadest network of service providers and largest discount on services.

A California company has been awarded a $317,401 contract for a voters registration and election management system.

Based in Irvine, Calif., DFM Assoc. will provide the software for the new program while a separate company will handle supporting hardware.

That amount is not expected to exceed $120,000. According to the 2002 Help America Vote Act, the county is complying with requirements to improve voter registration procedures and election administration.

Federal funds are expected to offset some of the costs for the improvements, but no dollar amount was given.

Families can enjoy watching the Border Collie-sheep herding demonstrations, taking a leisurely wagon or barrel train ride, making rope or building a scarecrow, hand grinding corn and of course meeting the farm animals plus lots more.

Over 200 tractors, antique cars and steam engines will be on display and the always-popular tractor and antique vehicle parade is scheduled at 2 p.m. each day. The main stage will host a variety of great on-going family entertainment.

Other displays and demonstrations include quilting, chain saw carving, heritage crafts, antique steam engines and a large model train display. A delicious assortment of food and beverages will be available on both days or visitors are welcome to bring along a picnic.

House committee approves $52 million Metra funding

Rep. Mark Kirk (R-Fort Sheridan), member of the U.S. House Appropriations Committee, was joined by Metra General Development Director Jack Groner and local leaders in announcing House Appropriations Committee approval of $52 million in funding for Metra to upgrade commuter rail service in northern Illinois.

The money is part of a full funding agreement committed to Metra by the White House and the Department of Transportation. Congressman Kirk fought hard for this funding as it will specifically be used to improve three existing rail lines that serve the Chicago area: The North-Central Line, Southwest Service and Union Pacific West Line. The Senate Appropriations Committee still must approve the funding before funds are released.

"Updating our transportation infrastructure is essential to reducing highway gridlock and improving our environment," said Congressman Kirk who represents many of the communities located along the North-Central commuter rail line.

The North-Central line, currently running only four trains in and out of the city during rush hour, will receive $20 million to continue construction of a second mainline track. When completed, it will meet strong demand by doubling the North-Central's passenger capacity, reducing the number of cars on our highways and improving air quality. The money committed to the North-Central Line will also be used to build additional stations along the route and for track and signal upgrades.

"Completion of these rail projects will pull thousands of cars off our congested highways and improve air quality," said Kirk.

One village board won't air its meetings, for now

By SONJA SCHNEIDER
Staff Reporter

For all the residents in Mundelein who can't make the Monday night village board meetings but would like to know what the elected officials are doing, it is not going to happen anytime soon.

Lake County municipalities that currently broadcast their village meetings include Grayslake, Gurnee and Vernon Hills.

Dan Cox, a Mundelein resident, took the floor at the meeting and asked the board for televised sessions.

"What they post on the village web site in no way reflects what happens at the board meetings," Cox, founder of the Coalition for Fair Government in Mundelein said. "Anyone who reads the minutes and thinks they are in tune with what is going on—yeah right."

Cox reflected when his organization challenged the village board on hiring and making it mandatory to see the hearing officer. After his battle Cox and his team reversed the motion to read the hearing officer will now be a choice.

"When I was bringing opposition to the board all that was written in the minutes online was, 'Dan Cox addressed the board about opposition to the hearing officer,' entire statements are omitted and abbreviated. When we elect officials to represent us it would be good to see what other residents are bringing to the table and how our constituents are responding," Cox said.

Trustee Bruce Campbell said if the village builds a new village hall it will be equipped with accessibility of cameras.

Cox said with all the new construction like the police and fire stations why didn't they put cameras in now. Now they want a new village hall and are making excuses.

"We always find excuses," Cox said. "They just built massive police and fire departments and you are telling me we can't broadcast a signal for television. Then we have spent our money wrong."

Vision takes place of one grand plan

Now that the spirit is willing, Waukegan hopes to make up for years of commercial decline with a new plan for revitalizing its downtown and reshaping the lakefront. What's about to take place in the county seat will have a profound effect on Lake County.

At this point, there is no single plan. What has evolved after years of debate and study is a desire to move forward with a concerted effort to shake off a Rust Belt image. Waukegan is the last city on Lake Michigan to put its past in the past.

Mayor Richard Hyde described what's happening as accepting a "vision." Grizzled council veteran Ald. Lawrence TenPas probably put it best when he told critics of revitalization efforts: "Vote the concept—the plan can be adjusted."

Over the years, Waukegan's auto dealers relocated to Gurnee and Libertyville. Retailing fled first to Lakehurst Shopping Center, then Gurnee and Vernon Hills. Factory jobs disappeared. Remaining were lots of rooftops and an aging infrastructure. What couldn't be taken away was Lake Michigan. That's what the various plans incorporate in the vision of the future.

One of the ideas that has taken hold is building a bridge—literally—from the existing downtown to the lakefront. One plan calls for construction of a bridge a city block wide that would connect downtown and the lakefront.

Instead of a grand plan, the grand thing is that a single vision will be able to synthesize many plans to capitalize on Waukegan's richest resource—Lake Michigan. And, wonders of wonders, the lake has been there all the time.

Making an impact—that's Robert Morris

With the opening of a campus in Amhurst Business Park, Robert Morris College is advancing the growing reputation of Lake County for excellent opportunities for higher education. There aren't too many other localities with the combination of numbers and quality for attaining baccalaureate degrees.

Robert Morris College is a private, not-for-profit independent college. The college, headquartered in Chicago, provides students with a choice of seven locations: Chicago, O'Hare, DuPage, Orland Park, Peoria, Lake County and Springfield.

The school dates back to 1913 with the founding in Chicago of the Moser School, an independent business school with a national reputation. For years, business executives in the Chicago area knew they had an outstanding secretary or administrative aide when a Moser grad joined the staff.

Today, Robert Morris offers programs in business, health studies, computer studies and art and design. The school operates with a unique five-quarter system designed for continuous learning. Students are able to accelerate their education, completing a bachelor's degree in three years and an associate's degree in 15 months. With approximately 5,000 students, Robert Morris is the seventh largest private institution of higher learning in Illinois. It is the largest granter of degrees to members of minority groups.

Within a short time, Robert Morris athletes will be becoming well known to sports fans since the school competes in the Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference, Div. II, with men's and women basketball, cross-country and soccer. There also is competition in men's baseball, club hockey and women's softball, volleyball, track and tennis.

Robert Morris is community minded and will open its library at the Waukegan facility to the public. President Michael P. Violit points with pride to the school's leadership position in educating minorities and challenges other higher education institutions to do more. Besides impacting local education, Robert Morris is destined to have a major impact on the Lake County economy. We welcome Robert Morris and wish the new campus well.

NEVER FORGET.

VIEWPOINT

Prepare for 2004: be almanac brainy

Publishers of the Old Farmer's Almanac don't put it that way, but it's got interesting information on a ton of subjects, including some pretty graphic stuff about sex. We'll get to that a little later.

I got hooked on the funky little book a long time ago and always look forward to a new version. The 2004 almanac will be released Monday, Sept. 15. This will be the 212th, making it one of the longest-running publications on the planet.

Newspaper columnists are lucky (?) because they get an early peek at pre-lease copies. Take it from a long-time Old Farmer's Almanac fan, the 2004 edition doesn't disappoint. What other publication would tell you why George Washington never smiled? (bad teeth). Or gives you the inside on how to hypnotize a chicken.

As a weather watcher or long standing, I appreciate the almanac's long range forecasts. Get ready for a hot, dry summer next year. The almanac says winter will be cold (match) with the coldest periods in early December, around New Years and again in late January. Last heavy snowfall will be in mid-January. Summer will be hotter than normal, primarily due to an exceptionally hot August (going out on a limb). Summer rainfall will be normal, with the heaviest rains in July. Sounds a lot like 2003, doesn't it? OK. So make plans accordingly. Thank you Old Farmer's Almanac!

The almanac gets into scientific subjects like time corrections, tide tables and astrological timetables like the best dates to quit smoking, diet to gain weight, diet to lose weight, cut hay, castrate animals, graft or pollinate. You know, real need to know information. My birthday, Feb. 28, didn't rate a mention so that important date will be pretty hum drum next year. My wife's birthday, May 13, will be a lost cause, too. That's a great date, according to the almanac, to quit smoking (she doesn't), begin a diet to lose weight (she's a workout buff) and go camping (she prefers sailing).

BILL SCHROEDER

The 2004 almanac is heavy on gardening tips and food information like the art of making wild grape jelly. First you have to be able to recognize a wild grape. Half a page on that subject: The almanac never leaves you hanging. Gardeners and food fans are sure to appreciate four ways to use one of the gardens most abundant and under appreciated vegetables, the redoubtable zucchini.

There's a fascinating article on the history of face reading, predicting a person's behavior on how they look. The Old Farmer's Almanac says Hillary Clinton's wide face reveals her natural self confidence. (Now we know). Her wide-set eyes indicate that she is tolerant (boy, is she ever). Her large irises are a sign that she is dramatic. (So is her voice). Jay Leno's prominent chin indicates a personality that never gives up. His flaring nostrils show self-confidence. His thin lips indicate impatience.

Now about that sex stuff. Where else but the Old Farmer's Almanac would you find easy access to information about gestation and mating of common farm animals? Or the estral cycle and usual time of ovulation.

Don't get the impression that the almanac is for farm folk and old fogies. The fashion section says harem pants and bright colored obis will be all the rage in 2004. Ladies, you'll also be tossing away that hardware-laden designer purse and toting around a new colorful handbag. For guys, camo suits will be in. So will body-fitting T-shirts in the hot colors—pink tints, blue, pumpkin orange, or yellow-green. (Honest, I didn't make this up).

That does it for the 2004 Old Farmer's Almanac preview. Now you're on your own. Think about how your insights will brighten coffee klatching or chit chat at the pub. That George Washington trivia question will be a killer.

Reward for doing 'right thing'

This year, I reintroduced legislation that will provide additional bonding authority for certain park districts and forest preserves, hit hard by tax cap laws. This was an initiative I previously sponsored with former Republican Senate President Pate Philip which passed the Senate with wide bi-partisan support last year.

In recent weeks, a few individuals have charged that Democratic members of the General Assembly and I have used our majority to dismantle the property tax cap system. They expressed great fear that this will be the first of many "raids" into what has become sacred ground in a fight against higher taxes. This is simply not the case, especially when you look at the facts involved.

Senate Bill 83 gives certain parks, including the Brookfield Zoo, the Chicago Botanical Gardens as well as park districts in communities like Bedford Park, Bloomingdale, Carol Stream, Elmhurst, Joliet and Woodridge the opportunity to issue bonds in order to make repairs and purchase new equipment.

When tax caps were enacted in 1991 they were based in part on the current debt owed by the districts. During that period, districts with poor fiscal operations and high indebtedness fared better under the tax cap law.

On the flip-side, the districts included in this legislation were all fiscally sound and had little indebtedness, if any at all. As a result of having lower operating costs, these districts were shortchanged when tax caps took effect. Because they were doing the right thing, these districts were punished.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

New GOP troika aims for funding

What political observers are reading into a joint fundraiser Sept. 21 for three Lake County Board members probably is correct. That jointly they can become a new force in county government and the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

County Board Reps. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake), Steve Carlson (R-Gurnee) and Bob Powers (R-Round Lake) will be co-sponsors of a summer-ending barbecue to be held at the Barn at Prairie Crossing, Route 45. There will be food and fun from 6-8:30 p.m.

The trio of Republicans doesn't disguise the fact that they share convictions about government direction and spending. What thrust Coles, Carlson and Powers together was their opposition to spending to refurbish the Fort Sheridan Golf Course.

Advice from uncle

Even with the emotion of a surprise resignation, Grant Township Highway Commissioner Jack Kiesgen remained his jovial self. "I checked it out with my uncle. My uncle said it was OK to retire. Uncle Sam," Kiesgen added with a grin. His wife, Kim, who has been employed 17 years in the department, was named interim highway commission with prospects that she will be appointed official to serve out his term running to 2005.

Love those sheds

Don't be surprised if Lincolnshire Mayor Brent Blomberg calls in a NFL referee crew with instant replay to make the call on the shed ordinance enforcement question. Lincolnshire has an old ordinance on the books banning sheds that has never been enforced—until now. Over the years, many homeowners have put up backyard storage sheds, some of them fancy enough to be rented out if indoor plumbing was installed. Shed lovers aren't budging.

Staying power

Mundelein Village Administrator Ken Marabella is taking in good humor charges from critics that he runs the village with "czar-like" authority. Marabella is the dean of Lake County village administrators. He has been on the job—three decades—long enough to finish most of the projects he has started.

and critical parents is making life uneasy for Oak Grove School Superintendent Barbara Sloan, who took over the Libertyville area elementary district two years ago. School board members and district legal counsel are guarded over reports that Sloan will be fired. She characterizes her plight as "difficult transition" from the administration of popular former Supt. Patrick Patt, who retired and took an unsuccessful fling at county politics. Patt served the district for 17 years. Sloan has a five-year contract.

Seriously ill

Truman Hudson, former supervisor of Zion Township, is battling a serious illness. Now a resident of Grayslake, Hudson held office for 20 years. He formerly was band director at Warren High School.

Studying expansion

Although he has retired from Metra, the rail arm of the Regional Transportation Authority, Harry Thomas still will be involved in rail commuting as a consultant. Thomas was part of a study group looking into the feasibility of expanding Metra beyond the mandated collar county area. Milwaukee civic and political leaders have inquired about a Metra link and there is interest in extending rail community to Kankakee. Thomas resides in Libertyville.

Higher taxes

Lake Forest and Riverwoods were among units of Illinois local government imposing sales tax increases under a new law effective July 1. Both municipalities bumped local sales tax .05 percent bringing combined general merchandise tax to 7 percent.

based on party identification or location. They would do well to research the history of this proposal and the long list of legislators from both parties who want to keep these valuable resources around for many years to come.

Editor's note: Terry Link represents the 30th District which includes parts of Waukegan, Park City, North Chicago, Green Oaks, Mettawa, Vernon Hills, Lincolnshire, Riverwoods and part of Buffalo Grove. He resides in Vernon Hills and is part of the Illinois Senate majority leadership. He also is chairman of the Lake County Democratic Central Committee.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gang of 5 reestablished

Even though severe attrition has diminished the gang's numbers with the resignations, the Cook Library "gang" is revitalized with the latest two appointees. The last one coming on the heels of a smashing 4-2 ringing endorsement. And now the gang, led by Linda Lucke and new member Aaron Lawlor, raise the old cudgel that "Jack Martin" made me do it. Lucke, who distinguished herself in previous library battles by being knocked off the ballot because she didn't know how to properly file her nomination papers, suffers us through a long diatribe about how wonderful she is and how evil Jack Martin is.

You know, the same Jack Martin who denied our children the opportunity to get "The Reader's Guide" with a 48 point headline, with an expletive.

Then comes Lawlor with his myopic anti-logic. Here's a humdinger, "it is the freedom of every individual and of the press in our great nation to be able to read, write and speak as we choose." And as Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said, "Freedom of speech does not extend to yelling FIRE in a crowded theater." If you don't believe that just try it sometime and after your arrest tell them Aaron Lawlor said it was OK. Lawlor reminds us all the Eloi of "The Time Machine" were more real than H.G. Wells might have imagined. See no EVIL, hear no EVIL and speak no EVIL is alive and well among the Gang of Five. Like most liberals who want to do right, with your money, Lawlor is all too happy to share his position with the community. The problem is you will not find his position in his letter. Unfortunately, he is unwilling to stand up for an issue and allow himself to be counted.

Terror in September

The people, Oh God. On Sept. 11, 2001.

They became human sacrifices of the evil unleashed upon our beloved country.

On jet wings death came, calling out many names. Terrorists from foreign lands, within our own.

Faceless cowards who came to destroy. An "Act of war."

A state of emergency exists.

As the jets hit, the World Trade Center became a tomb and collapsed. Debris and smoke so thick, it was midnight on a bright sunny morning.

Our Pentagon, a casualty of the cowards suicide hit.

Again death called out many names.

Our White House an unreachable target because, brave courageous passengers called out "Let's Roll" and the jet crashed. Death again called out many names.

Every scene, hauntingly surrealistic, engraved in my minds eye.

Screams, fire, smoke, ash, the dead and injured.

Our immediate strength, firefighters, police, paramedics, doctors, nurses, volunteers, some trapped and killed when the towers collapsed.

We are a nation of survivors, united, strong, brave.

Courageous and true to purpose.

The lives, the bravery, the heroes will never be forgotten.

The Spirit of America will never die.

God Bless America

Betty A. Smith, Gurnee

Good for most

After all of the strife and infighting between the various sides during the past school referenda elections, I found it refreshing that the District 56 School Board set aside the raw emotions and hurt feelings from prior battles and worked to keep after school programs available for our children.

The solution may not be perfect for some people, but it does the greatest good for the greatest number of children. User fees allow parents to fund the after school programs they value. Those who cannot afford to participate certainly could not afford increased taxes. Besides, parents pay user fees for the time their children are attending school, while taxpayers pay increased taxes for life.

This recent action by the school board, along with the recent balanced budget, should send a signal to skeptical taxpayers that the District 56 is working hard to earn the trust of the voters.

The teachers of District 56 also made concessions in recent union negotiations to help our children and taxpayers. At the conclusion of the successfully completed negotiations with the school district, teachers accepted modest pay increases in order to help the school district. Apparently, teachers at District 56 understand the struggle of the average taxpayer living in the school district, and by their actions, agreed to share the sacrifice in a flat economy.

Hopefully, a new spirit of compromise and consensus will develop around these current events. Perhaps all points of view in the debate over education funding can join together around a vision of excellence in education, while using taxpayer money wisely. This new developing common ground could form the basis of a united front in support of a reasonable referendum request for Gurnee School District 56.

Peter S. Karlovics, Gurnee

Thank you

I would like to express my appreciation to the Lakeland area communities and organizations who volunteered their time and energy to organize their local parades, giving me the opportunity to participate and meet their friendly residents.

Lindenhurst, Grayslake, Lake Zurich, Fox Lake and Mundelein, I thank you for your efforts. Volunteers like you help to make our communities stronger by providing opportunities such as your festivals and parades to unite residents, allowing them to demonstrate the pride they have in their community.

Stronger communities make for a stronger, more united, America. I truly appreciate having the opportunity to meet such friendly people, and look forward to the possibility of returning next year for more fun. The next time, I promise to bring candy.

David W. Phelps, Crystal Lake

Face facts about teachers

I read with great interest the recent articles on how the Woodland school teachers overwhelmingly voted to strike if they don't get what they want. What they want is ridiculous, a 33 percent raise over three years, and more generous benefits that will drive up their compensation package 70 percent in the next three years.

I foresee 858 job openings at Woodland very soon. Since these teachers and support staff aren't in touch with reality maybe they don't realize there will be hundreds and maybe thousands of people lining up to take their jobs. We won't whine for more than they currently get, we have no jobs and need the work.

Also, while on strike I highly recommend every teacher apply for a few jobs in the "real world," not academia. When at the interview they can ask for the following since they believe they are entitled to it: part time work but full time pay, 100 percent medical coverage, summers off, of course, don't want to work any weekends or holidays either, and a guaranteed pension that dwarfs the private sector at $43,000 per year and medical. After being laughed out of the HR office maybe they will realize they have a great deal and accept the reasonable, even generous 4 percent raise they are being offered.

Debbie O'Dell, Gurnee

Taxing aristocracy

Our property tax is being paid under severe protest because in my opinion our property has been illegally assessed and the tax applied contrary to law.

Lake County has consistently ignored Illinois State mandate for quadrennial reassessment and totally violates the 5 percent increase tax cap.

A letter to me explaining the excessive 22.8 percent increase applied to our 2002 tax was because we enjoyed a four-year relief due to property improvement. The actual result does not hold water because it is still invalid. In addition to the actual increases to our tax each year during this four-year relief period, The 2002 increase of 22.8 percent averages 5.7 percent additional increase per year and that makes the home improvement relief no relief at all and continues to violate the 5 percent per year cap as well.

It is quite obvious that despite the near depression economy of the Bush administration, the Lake County Taxing bodies are spending as usual. While we 76-year old retirees are limited a completely bogus 1.8 percent consumer price index increase to our Social Security payments, Lake County taxing bodies continue to demand increases far exceeding normal inflation and the mythical 5 percent cap. What do we get? A property tax bill that is nearly 10 percent of our total income.

Does that stop or even slow down the excessive salary and pension increases by the Lake County tax aristocracy? Never. We 76-year plus super seniors who put the very least burden on community costs are being assessed and taxed with the most regressive of all taxes.

The $40,000 income cap to secure assessment freeze is a joke, since it includes every cent of income with zero provision for cost of living exemption. My federal IRS adjusted base income was $29,332. The state of Illinois considered our base income $1998, yet we do not qualify for Lake County assessment freeze. Cook County allows a $56,000 income for assessment freeze for seniors. Lake County says $40,000 even if cost of living exceeds $40,000. Certainly the 10 percent of my total income for property tax, as well as the skyrocketing cost for supplementary health insurance, prescription drug costs, gouging natural gas heating costs and the now monopoly-controlled gasoline at $1.80 per gallon quickly eats up the $40,000 cap which in the 90s was a comfortable retirement income.

COMMENTARY

Chicago Botanical Garden, along with the other parks and districts helped by this legislation, are wonderful resources for our communities. They welcome millions of visitors each year. That's why this legislation received support from legislators of both parties and from all areas of the state. This was not a Democratic or Republican bill. It was not an attempt by one party or the other to dismantle property tax caps.

Senate Bill 83 is good legislation that helps institutions all across the Chicagoland area that make our communities better places to live. Critics of this legislation are unfair in singling out proponents of the bill

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

It's going to be difficult for you, Aries, but you need to keep your opinions to yourself when it comes to a business meeting late in the week. Speaking your mind only will get you into hot water with the higher-ups. So, just keep quiet. A close friend needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't let a friend's mistake upset you on Monday. The error doesn't cause you any problems, and this person knows how to deal with the situation. So, just let it go. That special someone turns to you for advice. Be honest, and try to help him or her make the right decision. Your efforts will be appreciated. Leo plays a key role.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

You're on cloud nine this week, Gemini. You don't have a lot of responsibilities, and no one is expecting anything from you. So, enjoy yourself, and splurge a little. Don't let this opportunity slip away, because things are going to get hectic very soon. Libra is involved on Wednesday.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Try not to let your conscience get the best of you when you get angry at a loved one. This person understands how you feel and isn't hurt by what you say. So, don't beat yourself up about it. Just let it go. An acquaintance reveals his or her true feelings for you. Let him or her down gently.

Leo — July 23/August 23

You meet someone interesting early in the week, Leo. Get to know this person better, because he or she certainly can help your career. Just be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression. A loved one invites you out late in the week. Say yes, because it's sure to be a good time.

Virgo — Aug. 24/Sept. 22

Don't be late for an important financial meeting on Wednesday, Virgo. If you are, you'll miss out on a potentially lucrative opportunity. This could be the way to increase that bank account. A close friend needs your advice about a personal matter. Listen to what he or she has to say, and be honest. Your opinion will be taken seriously.

Libra — Sept. 23/Oct. 23

You can't put off an important decision any longer, Libra. You have to make a choice. Look at all of the pros and cons, and do what you think is best. Turn to a loved one for advice if you need it. He or she won't steer you in the wrong direction.

Scorpio — Oct. 24/Nov. 22

Don't let your ego get the best of you when meeting with a business associate early in the week, Scorpio. Getting cocky only will make you look bad. So, try to be modest. That special someone needs your help with a family matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

Keep your temper under control when an acquaintance purposely tries to upset you on Tuesday. He or she wants to make you look bad in front of others. Don't let that happen. The person whom you've been seeing asks you an important question. Be honest — even if what you have to say won't be appreciated.

Capricorn — Dec. 22/Jan. 20

Don't be shy when a loved one introduces you to an interesting person early in the week. Try to make a good impression, because this could be the one for you. Don't be nervous; your feelings will be reciprocated. A close friend needs your help with a personal matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Aquarius — Jan. 21/Feb. 18

Try not to overanalyze an offer of help from an acquaintance. This person doesn't have an ulterior motive; he or she just wants to be there for you. Accept the assistance. Not only will you make a lot of progress, but you'll also gain a new friend. Cancer plays an important role.

Pisces — Feb. 19/March 20

While you want to help a friend who gets into trouble on Thursday, don't. Getting involved only will cause you a lot of grief. This person gets into the mess on his or her own; he or she will have to get out of it the same way. Don't feel guilty about not helping.

Honeymoon Trends for 2003

The wedding is just the beginning. There's plenty of excitement planning the honeymoon as well, from choosing a travel adventure to deciding what to bring along on the journey. And for many, planning this "Great Escape" is just as important as planning the wedding. Regardless of where you decide to go, there are some things you should know to make it the kind of experience you want it to be.

First, you must decide on a budget. If money is not an issue, bon voyage! However, if you're like most engaged couples, you're already paying for more than you anticipated. Establish a budget and use it as a guide. You may also want to consider using a honeymoon gift registry like the free one provided by www.TheHoneymoon.com.

Honeymoon registries allow guests, friends and family to contribute towards specific elements of your honeymoon, like shore excursions, parasailing, spa services and tours. If you already have a crock pot, toaster and blender, this may be just what you need.

Of course, honeymoon budgeting takes on new meaning if you decide to do a "destination wedding." These are becoming popular as more couples decide to forego the average $20,000 wedding price tag in addition to the honeymoon expense. They are especially popular with second marriages. It's easier to get married in some countries than others, so be sure to check with a reliable information source, like the country's consulate or the U.S. Department of State, before making any arrangements. After setting a budget, you need to decide where you would like to go. If you and your fiancé want the same type of honeymoon experience, no problem. However, if one craves adventure while the other wants to relax in the sun, you need to compromise. There are destinations that can satisfy both of you — you just need to do some research. To get started, check out www.Honeymoons.com, an informational Web site published by Susan Wagner, a former travel editor of Modern Bride.

How to know if your child is using drugs

Dear Dr. Singer,

Our son is a teenager and we believe he may be using drugs. We are not sure and only have a few little clues about it. We wondered if you might have some clues as to what things might look like if he were really taking drugs. We are already planning to get him in for treatment, but want to make sure we aren't jumping the gun. Thank you. M.M.

Dear M.M.,

This is a life and death issue that needs to be looked at carefully, immediately. If you think your child is using drugs, if you even have one little clue, you have to act immediately to help your child. This is a problem that won't go away by itself and will keep getting worse. I will go over in some detail how to help your child, but the first thing I need to tell you is that the first sign of drug use, you need to get your child in to a counselor or therapist who has a specialty in both behavior problems and addictions.

How do you know if your child is using drugs? Sometimes, it is very obvious and sometimes, you see some signs, but you're not quite sure. Most parents are afraid of overreacting and alienating their teenager. This is one problem that you don't want to walk on eggshells about. Here are some signs to look for, but keep in mind that these are not the only symptoms you may see. Different drugs produce different effects. Some signs to look for may include: greatly increased or decreased sleep, greatly increased attitude problems (the child is always angry or agitated), greatly increased constant energy level, greatly decreased energy level, hanging out with the "wrong crowd", pupils of eyes dilated or pinpoints, increased aggression, lack of care about anything. At times, you may find drug paraphernalia in the child's room. The most often used excuse that we all know about is, "I'm holding it for a friend". This excuse should not ever hold water with you. Even if your child is holding it for a friend, he is hanging out with a friend who is using, which means he could start using too, if he hasn't already. This is time to get the kid in for help.

PARENT'S PLACE

Unfortunately, with regard to drug use, there is not much you can do yourself, without the help of professionals. It has been shown in many teenagers that starting out small does not mean that the use will stay small. Most likely, the need for a high will grow and the child will need bigger and better drugs to get the same high. You should also know that the drugs of today are not the drugs of the 60's and 70's. Today's drugs tend to be much stronger and far more pure.

You may need to take your child to a detox hospital to get him or her clean before any actual counseling can take place. If the child is too into drugs, outpatient counseling will probably not have much of an effect until the child is clean from the drugs. It will be costly to have your child in a detox, but isn't it worth your child's life? Sometimes, depending on your insurance, they may pick up part of it or have recommendations for you in what other areas to go to for help.

Please understand that this does not only happen in families of a certain income, race, or area. This is far spread throughout our society and it can happen in any household. Don't feel safe from it just because you happen to live in a certain area or be a certain kind of person. Make sure the communication between you and your child stays open from the beginning. Have appropriate limits and consequences and use them. Talk to your child, not at your child, about things from the beginning. Educate your child early about good drugs and bad drugs. When they're young, make sure they are scared of taking any drug that hasn't been prescribed for them by a Doctor or isn't being used correctly.

Usually, when there is drug use, there are other more serious emotional issues going on within the child and family. Minimize the chance of this happening by keeping the lines of communication open early. Watch from the beginning. Remember, the earlier you start to talk to and help your child, the more chance he or she will be successful. If the child needs help, get it early.

Also important are your own habits. Do you rely on any substances in front of your child. I don't have any hard numbers on this, but I have noticed subjectively that kids who end up using seem to have parents who are avid smokers, drinkers, even drug users. Kids do what they live and see and experience. If using substances has been a normal household and family thing, then you will need to watch the child more closely for usage because, from my experience, there will be more of a chance that the habit will get imitated and create a feeling of familiarity and comfort in the child.

I can't say it to you enough. Do not ignore the beginning signs of this problem. Get help early or as soon as possible and make sure to follow through on that help all the way until it's conclusion. We had a friend we grew up with who's parents didn't follow up completely. They started the process and kept stopping short. He is now in a cemetery in Palatine. He's been there since he was about 22 years old. Every time we think about him, we think about what a waste of a life that was and how much he has truly missed out on. He started out using what many people today would call lighter drugs and progressed pretty fast and furious up to some pretty hard stuff. The longer the addiction lasts, the stronger it becomes. You can find drug rehab programs and addiction counselors through Doctors you already know and also through the phone book.

In the case of serious drug usage, after detox and rehab, there should be ongoing counseling and weekly drug testing. The counseling and weekly drug testing should also happen in the case of a teenager who is suspected of starting to use. Then serious consequences should happen upon a positive result. So, do it now if you even suspect!

Alcoholism: If a disease, it needs to be treated as such

When I was producing radio programs in New York for Dr. Dane Shepherd, my mentor, my confidant, and also my personal osteopathic physician, we recorded 11 shows about alcohol dependency. Often referred to as substance abuse, chemical dependency, alcohol addiction-whatever the label-the issue has been out there since the dawn of civilization. It knows no demographic boundaries. Nearly 100,000 Americans die each year as a result of alcohol abuse. It's a major factor in more than half of reported homicides, suicides and traffic accidents. Playing a major role in domestic and social problems, the station received a record number of phone calls. These were mostly from people, desperate and suffering because of a family member or some other close relative or friend who is addicted to alcohol.

No doubt, many of you are experiencing the same set of circumstances-the intense pain, the uncertainty, the manipulation, the loneliness and despair resulting from a loved one with this disorder. I use the word "disorder" instead of "disease," for I am not entirely in agreement that this is a disease, though it is most often referred to as being that. Why? It's because medicine does not really treat it as such.

As I mentioned last week, diseases have treatments and there are often cures. Tell me, how can alcoholism be compared to such maladies as diabetes, heart disease, leukemia, and multiple sclerosis when society holds the alcoholic responsible for their affliction? And, if alcoholism is a disease, it is the only "disease" for which communion with a "Higher Power" is necessary-an essential component in the recovery program of Alcoholics Anonymous (AA).

The science of modern medicine is built upon prescription drugs and other chemical and physical manipulative techniques that have researched, proven scientific merit. I think that most physicians would frown upon the concept that spiritual healing should be the primary component in the treatment of chronic diseases.

And, how can alcoholism be classified as a disease when its symptoms such as the need to have a drink are apparent only at certain times and in certain environments, and then be seemingly non-existent at other times and other places? How can these characteristics be compared to other medical diseases that remain with the person regardless of the time of day or environmental circumstances?

If alcoholism can truly be regarded as a disease, why is it then that society is so quick to immediately label those affected with the scarlet "A-Alcoholic"? We wouldn't immediately label someone who has high blood pressure, "hypertensive," or an individual suffering from diabetes as a "diabetic"? Do you get my point? Alcoholism bears a social stigma of a moral failing, irresponsibility-a vice.

I have been absorbed in the topic for almost three years. I remain perplexed as to why intelligent, successful people destroy their lives and the lives of those around them because of a mental and physical dependency on a chemical substance. And the bottom line is, nobody really knows why this happens for some, and not for others.

ON CALL

I described my dear friend of 18 years who's had a love affair with the beer can long before I ever came to know him. All day long, at home, at the office, every day, he'd start popping tops at 4 o'clock in the morning. I could never be able to do this without becoming deathly ill! I admit I do love a cold brewsky on a hot, summer evening or a glass of red wine with dinner. However, I am genetically programmed to stop. While an "alcoholic" can keep drinking, I get sick after I've had a few.

Genetics-for sure-we've touched on what is definitely a major cause. A given person's risk of becoming an alcoholic is four to five times greater if a parent is alcoholic. According to Dr. Shepherd, "Alcoholism is passed on generation to generation. Researchers are now narrowing down the gene that causes it."

I agree with Dr. Shepherd 100 percent on the genetic component. I do not however, entirely buy his concept that the spiritual perspective is the only way to recovery. Sure, its given AA and their 12-step program that calls for the realization and submission to a Higher Power center stage. Then, of course, there's Al-Anon that has certainly helped the families understand and survive their loved one's addiction; however, the success rate for recovery in the AA program is only 12 percent at max.

What I'm getting at is this: If alcoholism is truly a disease, it needs to be treated as one. Mentioned briefly in last week's column was physical fitness celebrity Susan Powter's eye opening book that focuses on the "missing link" necessary for the cure. That's right-the cure. The popular theory is that an alcoholic is always an alcoholic, and the best that could ever happen is for that person to graduate to a "recovering alcoholic"-yet, always and forever remaining an alcoholic. I think that's a pretty dismal forecast.

An entirely different theory is presented in Powter's remarkable findings. As an 11-year-old child in a family ravaged by alcoholism, Powter, one of the youngest members to attend Al-Anon, admits to her own struggle against the curse and how she cured herself. If you can, get her book: "Sober-and Staying that Way-The Missing Link in the Cure for Alcoholism."

Next week, I promise, to review her incredible revelations. In the meanwhile, I need to give you an update about my "celebrity" friend. He has been sober for over two weeks-no suds at all! I can't tell you what happened that stopped him from drinking. He told me, "Something just snapped." His story is a book by itself that I am planning on writing.

Chicago-area corporations raise more than $3 million for ACS's battle

Walgreens and The Pampered Chef® raised awareness and more than $3 million for the American Cancer Society's early detection breast cancer programs through separate fundraising campaigns.

"Corporate allies like Walgreens and The Pampered Chef are helping the American Cancer Society Illinois Division fund programs that will benefit more than 9,000 women who will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year," said Steven M. Derks, CEO, American Cancer Society Illinois Division.

The Walgreens "Hope Blooms With You" campaign, raised more than $2.2 million - double last year's rate - through the sale of pink paper blooms in Walgreens stores nationwide. Customers donated $1 for each bloom, signed them, and had them posted in Walgreens stores during the month of May.

"We've focused our efforts on this charity because of the number of women patients and our customer base and employees that have personally been touched by breast cancer," said Edward H. King, Director of Government and Community Relations of Walgreens Co. "We're planning to do another full blown campaign next May and hope to see another substantial increase."

The Pampered Chef's "Help Whip Cancer®" campaign raised awareness of early breast cancer detection and prevention and raised more than $827,000 for the Society through the sale of two limited-edition kitchen tools. Since 2000, The Pampered Chef's Independent Kitchen Consultants, hosts and customers have raised over $2.5 million for breast cancer education and early detection programs through the campaign.

"The Pampered Chef is committed to the important life-saving work carried out by the American Cancer Society," said Julie Christopher, manager, Corporate and Consumer Relations, The Pampered Chef. "Our Kitchen Consultants have truly embraced this cause. We're so proud of them and of our partnership with the American Cancer Society in an effort to Help Whip Cancer."

All monies raised through these campaigns go directly to the American Cancer Society and are designated for breast cancer programs. Breast cancer will claim the lives of more than 2,000 women in Illinois this year and over 9,200 will be diagnosed. It is the most common cancer in women and the second leading cause of death in women. The risk of breast cancer increases with age as well as life-style choices such as smoking, alcohol, obesity and high fat diet.

The American Cancer Society's fourth annual Making Strides Against Breast Cancer walk will be held October 19, 2003. The five-mile walk along Chicago's lakefront is expected to raise hundreds of thousands of dollars for research, education, advocacy and patient and family services in Illinois. Funds raised through this event are dedicated exclusively to American Cancer Society comprehensive breast cancer programs that benefit millions of women and families in Illinois and throughout the United States who struggle with breast cancer.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide community-based voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives and diminishing suffering from cancer, through research, education, advocacy and service. The Society's Illinois Division has more than 120,000 volunteers and 250 staff members fighting cancer in the state. Carmel 'passes' the test against Benet

By JOHN PHELPS
Lakeland Correspondent

They might be off to a 2-0 start but rest assured, there's plenty of work to be done when it comes to the Carmel football team.

Especially with a date at East Suburban Catholic rival Marian Catholic looming Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Eight turnovers in the first two games. A sometimes stagnant running game.

It's enough to make head coach Andy

Bitto a little curious about his troops.

"We've definitely got to hold on to the ball better," said Bitto, after the Corsairs snuck past visiting Benet Academy 21-14 for their 18th consecutive victory at home.

It was a game where Carmel, champions of the 69th Chicago Prep Bowl from a year ago, committed four turnovers.

"Give them (Benet) a lot of credit though. They played their guts out. We just happen to bail ourselves out with the passing game tonight."

Corsairs not rebuilding, but improving

By ROB BACKUS
Sports Editor

Carmel head coach Chris Rudolph is quick to say that his team, despite its youth, is not rebuilding after last year's 17-3-3 season.

"There's a lot of skill on this team so it's not a rebuilding year," Rudolph said. "The key is not to find the skill but for the skill to find each other."

The Corsairs are off to a good start on the season, and went into last weekend's Wheeling Invite with a 2-0-1 record.

Carmel finished the Invite with a 1-1-1 record, losing to Rolling Meadows 1-0, tying Wheeling 1-1 and defeating Streamwood 5-0.

"We improved significantly with each game," Rudolph said. "The challenge for us is to play together as a team and we're starting to do that."

Mike Richter (5 goals, 2 assists), Yared Ogungo (3 goals, 1 assist), James Levasseur (1 goal, four assists), Anthony Cipolla (1 goal, 2 assists) and Chris Fildow (1 goal, 2 assists) have led the Corsairs so far this season.

"The intensity has been good," Rudolph said. "The guys are giving a complete effort. I want effort over performance."

Although the Corsairs are off to a solid 3-1-2 start, Rudolph is not a coach that emphasizes wins and losses.

"I just want to improve every game," Rudolph said. "It's unfair to force performance, that will come with time. First we have to get better. First we'll be best then we'll be first."

Carmel's next match will be at home against Waukegan on Sept. 11.

Thanks to a 4-yard quarterback sneak by Mark Venegoni and a 1-yard plunge by Mike Serio, a packed crowd was treated to a 14-0 halftime Carmel advantage.

"We got off to a pretty good start but we still have to get better real fast" said defensive back Pat Kimener, one of the many heroes on defense with his sack and 12 tackles, one of which went for a 3-yard loss. "But it was a fun night. Guys were going hard to the ball. We got a little panicked in the second half when they came back at us. But we stayed focused. We'll be okay. We just need to get back to the basics."

One of those basics Carmel could and has gotten used to is the passing game behind Div.-I prospect Venegoni and University of Minnesota-bound Jack Simmons. It was the two hooking up on an 86-yard pass play right over the middle that set up Serio's touchdown with 9:31 left in the half.

"I'm happy with one or seven catches. Whatever I can do to help the team pull out the win," said Simmons, who actually happened to haul in seven Venegoni strikes for 161 yards. On one of those catches, Simmons, who stands at 6-feet, 5-inches tall actually dragged a would-be tackler for close to 10 yards before going down. And as for Venegoni, the senior signal-caller completed 11-of-14 passes for 227 yards.

His biggest came on a 39-yard strike to, who else, Simmons down to the Benet 7-yard line. This after Benet put a scare into the Corsairs by scoring twice in the second half, the latter tally coming with 1:51 left in regulation to knot the score at 14-14.

"I was lucky to get single coverage most of the night," said Simmons. "We weren't worried about scoring (the ultimate game winner). We were just worried about scoring too fast because they (Benet) moved the ball well on us tonight. Plus we were trying to give our defense some rest because they busted their tails all night."

Following Simmons' catch, Venegoni took care of the rest with a 5-yard dash to the two. He then bullied his way into the end zone on the next play to give the hosts the lead and ultimately, the win.

Mark had a great night and that was our Div.-I receiver making the big play with a great catch to set up the winning score," said Bitto.

As for the Carmel "D," Benet did move the ball, yes. But when it counted big plays told the story for the hosts.

Like junior defensive end Luis Cuevas' sack for a 7-year loss that help stymie Benet's final stand in the final 32 seconds. And it was Jimmy Magna's pick with 12 seconds left in the game helped put the final fork in the Red Wings.

Others stepping it up on defense included James Larson and Jaran Rutledge with quarterback sacks in the first quarter. Along with Magna, James Looby and Simmons each picked off first-half passes, while Magna Simmons and Jason Kwasigroch also broke up passes during the game. Billy Maloney and Joey Parisi also got into the act by hurrying Benet, quarterback Dan LeFevour on several occasions.

Back on offense, the Carmel running game, after only 34 yards rushing in the first half, showed signs of life during the second 24 minutes.

Junior tailback Darren Davis' 19-yard sprint started the drive that helped lead to the final score. Davis also had nice runs that covered 14, 10 and 25 yards in the second half. He finished as Carmel's leading rusher with 72 yards on seven carries. Venegoni was next with 38 yards on 10 attempts and Jon Popovitch collected 28 yards on seven tries.

Senior punter and place-kicker Chris Miller, one of actually seven Div.-I prospects on a Carmel team many think should win the 6A State title, dazzled the crowd with his booming kicks that averaged dose to 50 yards. His long was a 58-yard moon shot in at the start of the second quarter.

Carmel finished the game with 152 yards via the ground, but it was the air attack that had the last laugh on this night.

Corsair spikers off and running on the season

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Opening up with three matches at home helps, but Carmel High's volleyball team is fitting right into the new rally scoring system.

"We're off to a good start. In rally scoring, it takes strong serving and serve receiving and we have that. You also have to minimize errors," said CHS head coach Jon Baffico.

Carmel beat Vernon Hills and Round Lake to open the season.

This year, prep volleyball is a first team to 25, winning by two, format. Now teams no longer have to wait for side-outs to score points. Matches are a best-of-three setup until the post-season.

The Corsairs' offense is paced by setter Jessica LeClaire. Also back are 6-foot-1 Jill Scudder, Megan Krizman, Michelle Miramonti and a large group of juniors such as Dani Walker, Jessica Toby and Hanna Dindera, all defensive specialists. Theresa Ogrinc, 5-10 and Erin Walsch, also look to contribute offensively.

Carmel bested Round Lake 25-7, 25-10 in non-conference play.

Against the Panthers, Krizman was 18-for-18 serving with 5 aces; Toby 17-18 for 2 aces; Miramonti had 2-3 with 2 assists. Scudder had 2 solos and 1 assist and Abby sup had 1 solo and 1 assists in attack. Miramonti had 4-4 passing with 3 digs; Anna Pindera was 3-5 with 5 digs; Toby was 2-3 with 3 digs.

LeClaire had 11 assists and 1 kill and Miramonti was 11-12 with 8 kills and Krizman 6-6 with 2 kills.

"In both wins over Round Lake and Vernon Hills, we served aggressively," Baffico said. "Passing well and getting into the offense are keys."

Against Libertyville, Krizman had 1 solo block and 2 assists; Scudder had 2 solos and 1 assist. Walker was 7-9 in passing with 7 digs and Miramonti was 11-13 with 4 digs.

In attack, LeClaire had 6-7 with 1 assists; Krizman was 16-for-16 with 4 kills and Miramonti had 11-15 with 4 kills. LeClaire had 13 assists setting.

"We were down 8-1 in the second game, and that set us back on our heels. But it was only the third match of the season," Baffico said.

The Corsairs are at the Vernon Hills tournament on Sept. 13.

FANTASY FOOTBALL MONTHLY 2003
(Touchdowns Only!!!)

Fantasy Football season is here again! For many Lakeland readers, the very thought sends their hearts racing. But for others, the question may be, "What is fantasy Football?"

One of the most popular games across the country, fantasy Football comes in many different forms, with each allowing football fans to draft their "own" team every Sunday afternoon and/or Monday/Thursday night.

Lakeland Newspapers began their league 3 years ago. This year the following rules apply: readers must pick one quarterback, two running backs and two wide receivers and a tightend. Lakeland Newspapers Fantasy Football Monthly counts only touchdowns.

Your team is good for one month and one month only. Entries must be post marked by the last day of the previous month in order to enter the next month's contest. For example, September 30 is the last day to enter the October contest. You must re-enter each month. after the last game of the month is played the total amount of touchdowns scored by your six players is counted and whichever reader has the most total touchdowns wins. In the event of a tie, Lakeland will count the touchdowns of the candidate's "write-in" players. One entry per person. Winner will be mailed a check for $100.

Lakeland Newspapers will publish a fantasy Football column each week tips and player news. Don't forget that schedule plays a big role in which players choose. Just because someone may be the league's best player, does not necessarily mean that they will be the best player that month. And don't forget the bye weeks.

Good luck and get those entries in.

Johnsburg's Moulis tops Al Winker Memorial

Dave Moulis of Johnsburg captured the 20-lap winged sprint car Al Winker Memorial feature capping off a night of 90 laps of main event racing in five divisions at Local Motion Entertainment's Wilmot Speedway Saturday, Sept. 6.

The late Al Winker, who lost a battle with cancer in May 2001, won Wilmot championships in sprint cars in 1995 and in Modified Racing Association (MRA) modifieds in 1991. Al was instrumental in the racing careers of many competitors at Wilmot through the family business Winker Engineering of Kenosha. Marie Winker, Al's widow; daughter Kristen; and son Kurt (who raced in the memorial program for his father) were on hand.

A broken rear end on the cool down lap failed to prevent Jimmy Morrison of Antioch from winning his second 20-lap IMCA-type modified feature of the season at Wilmot.

"This is very special to win a race named for Al and to have Marie and her family here," said Moulis, a 6-time Wilmot champion who has run a limited schedule in the winged sprints this season. "Al did a lot for a lot of us in all types of racing making it truly an honor to win this event."

As for the race itself, Moulis commented, "I was able to run my line (high groove) and didn't see anyone come up inside of me, so I just stuck with it. The car ran super and I have to thank my crew for doing an excellent job setting the car up and my sponsors, as well as the fans."

John Tierney took the initial lead as Kristen Winker gave the 22-car field a ceremonial green flag. Moulis worked in front on lap three. On the restart following a lap six caution for a minor spin, Tim Ammon's mount hooked sideways in turn three and did a "tommy tip over" coming to rest on its side bringing out a red flag. Ammon was not injured.

Moulis kept the lead with Donny Goeden, John Edquist, Kurt Winker and Leroy Ostrowski hooking up into a torrid battle along with Tierney for second through sixth places. Edquist, running third at the time, spun in turn two bringing out a yellow flag on lap 10.

Another yellow flew on lap 14 for a spin just as Moulis was beginning to work lapped traffic. Kris Spitz, driving his father Dennis' car, hooked the cushion in turn two flipping end over end high into the air on lap 15. Spitz was not injured with the red setting up a dash to the finish as curfew and time limit loomed.

The final five laps stayed green with Moulis able to fend off the charges from Goeden. Winker nipped Ostrowski by inches at the finish line to place third. Kevin Hinich was fourth. Tim Vandervere placed fifth.

The modified portion of the program was non-points as the IMCA Nationals were being held in Boone, Iowa concluding on Saturday. The IMCA modified season championship is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 20.

In all, 90 laps of feature racing, 100 laps of heat races, 27 laps of semi-feature action were competed by a field of 102 race cars on hand in 18 events.

The Mike's Bikes of Gurnee, Illinois tricycle feature race was won by 7-year-old Damien Shepherd of Kenosha over 4-year-old Steve Debettignies of Kenosha. Courtney Zirbel of Kenosha, age 3, and 5-year-old Haley Russell of Racine competed in heat races.

Next up for the facility located on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds in Wilmot will be winged outlaw sprint cars, IMCA modifieds, hobby stocks, Hales Whales, Hales Sportsman and mini-sprints on Saturday, Sept. 13.

Mike's Bikes of Gurnee tricycle races will be held prior to the National Anthem Ceremony.

Due to the added divisions, Wilmot Speedway is adopting a new starting time of 6 p.m. for the first race. Grandstands will open at 4 p.m. with the pits opening at 2 p.m.

Fans, competitors and crew members are reminded to bring non-perishable food items or monetary contributions for the Speedway's food drive to aid Shalom Interfaith Food Center in Kenosha and C.O.O.L. Food Pantry in Waukegan, Illinois.

Contributions may be turned in at the Speedway souvenir building with the individual becoming eligible to win a new furnace or garage heater from Hi-Tech Heating and Cooling of Twin Lakes or a Nextel Cellular phone package from 1st Alliance of Twin Lakes or Lake Geneva. The winner will be selected from entries through Oct. 4.

For latest information contact the 24-hour race line at 262-862-2446 or the website at www.wilmotspeedway.com.

ATTENTION PET OWNERS We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.
